Blasts Rip Munitions Ship In Havana

Police Say 75-100 Dead In Explosion

Freighter, Harbor Arsenal Destroyed; Sabotage Feared

HAVANA (AP)—A French freighter delivering munitions from Belgium to Fidel Castro's Cuban army blew up alongside a Havana harbor pier Friday.

Late Friday night official quarters estimated 75 to 100 persons were killed and 200 injured aboard ship and ashore.

The ship and nearby harbor installation were destroyed by the blast and fire.

The Castro government quickly raised the suspicion of sabotage, and some of its adherents began hinting a sneak light plane raid by Castro's enemies may have set off the blasts.

Calls Cabinet Meeting

Prime Minister Castro called an urgent Cabinet meeting, ordered his military and police forces on a standby alert and plunged the nation from gay post-Mardi Gras festivities into mourning.

Fire-fighters and pier workmen, who moved in for rescue work after the first blast shook the ship in the afternoon, were caught by the second explosion about a half hour later. Some were knocked overboard into the bay.

Other explosions and fires followed on the ship and ashore in a mounting scene of chaos.

The first official estimate of 70 to 100 dead and 200 injured came from a government operated TV station.

There was no estimate of property damage along the pier. Experts noted that most of the destruction was in old buildings.

Sweeping flames and a series of explosions wrecked the dockside Panamerican warehouse with a roaring and crackling semblance of wartime battle sounds. A soldier said the warehouse was being used as an arsenal.

"It looked like a scene from Dante's inferno," said a 21-year-old fireman, Gabriel Delgado.

Helped Fight Fire

He was fighting the fire in the rear hold after the first blast and was caught aboard by the second about half an hour later.

"Bodies and pieces of bodies were all over the hold," Delgado said. "There were at least 40 or 50 dead."

"God knows how I escaped. I hid behind anything available. Bullets and shrapnel were flying all around me."

Delgado suffered lacerations of the arms and hands. An undetermined number of dockworkers were caught in the ship's after hold when the first blast roared up, setting the craft afire.

More than three hours after the initial explosion Havana Police Chief Efigenio Ameijeiras said it was impossible to fix the number of dead and wounded.

Blasts Wreck Havana Arsenal

Workers clamber over the wreckage of a dockside arsenal in Havana Bay which was shattered yesterday when a French cargo ship laden with munitions blew up, killing an estimated 75 to 100 persons and injuring at least 200 more. The vessel was the French freighter LaCoubre, which tied up earlier in the day to unload the cargo from Europe.

FCC Head Defends Visit To TV Owner

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman John C. Doerfer of the Federal Communications Commission readily acknowledged Friday that he was a private plane and yacht guest of a man who owns 13 radio and TV stations.

The stations are subject to FCC regulation, but Doerfer, in an emotional defense of his actions, said he checked first and found that none of them had any proceeding pending before the commission.

"My conscience," he declared, "is perfectly clear."

Doerfer was called before a House subcommittee which is checking on whether such agencies as the FCC are subjected to undue influence by members of the industry they are supposed to regulate.

The trips which Doerfer took as Storer's guest came last month, it developed, and he stressed that they were purely friendly and social.

Doerfer spoke of Storer as "an old friend." Under questioning, he said later he had not met Storer until he joined the FCC seven years ago by appointment from President Eisenhower.

Doerfer flared up when Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill.) said he was reminded by Friday's testimony of the conduct of radio disc jockeys who accepted payola, or tit-for-tat favors, from phonograph recording companies.

"This was no gratuity," Doerfer snapped. "This was a social engagement."

Agadir Quake Dead May Reach 12,000

AGADIR, Morocco (AP)—Rescue operations in earthquake-shattered Agadir were ordered to be suspended at midnight Friday, officials announced. The final count of the dead from two quakes, a tidal wave, and fire may reach 12,000.

American military units participating in the operations will be withdrawn, an American Embassy spokesman said. Demolition operations were ordered stepped up. The native quarter of the city has been leveled.

Only one weak survivor was pulled from the wreckage during the day.

Crown Prince Moulay Hassan, heir to Morocco's throne who has taken personal charge of the rescue work, said the known dead now total 4,000 and 6,000 more are presumed dead. A final total of 12,000 would not be an exaggeration, he told newsmen at his rescue headquarters three miles outside this once-beautiful resort city on the Atlantic Coast.

Medical teams applied chlorine, DDT, and quinine to the entire city to ward off disease. All workers were equipped with surgical masks.

A tight ring of troops surround the city where 40,000 people once lived. The crown prince said quarantine will be maintained for at least five weeks with the help of 3,700 troops en route to bolster the guard.

Despite fear of disease, U. S. Air Force doctors reported no outbreaks so far. But the odor of death hangs over the city.

"Human hands cannot work any more because of the pestilential smell," the crown prince said. He appeared drawn and tired as he met with newsmen for a few minutes.

In Rabat his father, King Mohammed V, went quietly to prayers and asked his countrymen to join him in praying for the victims. This is the first Friday, the Moslem Sabbath of Ramadan, the Moslem holy month of daytime fasting and devout religious observance.

Thousands of Moroccans living in ragged tent cities on the outskirts of Agadir are still in need of blankets, rescuers said. Sweltering temperatures have hampered rescue work during the day, but the African nights are often chilly.

These thousands of refugees were forbidden to return to search for missing relatives or gather their possessions. Fear of disease was too great. Special passes were required to go into town.

An international airlift continued carrying out the injured on an around-the-clock basis. Supplies came in on the return flights. U. S. planes alone have carried out well over 1,000 injured and refugees to northern Moroccan cities.

Twenty Air Force and Navy planes are assigned to the Agadir airlift, plus an equal number of French military and civilian planes.

Drifting Snow, Winds Paralyze New England

NEW YORK (AP)—The Northeast, most populous area in the country, still staggered Friday under the worst winter gale in more than a decade. Savage winds and drifting snow paralyzed New England.

Civilization's roar dwindled to a whisper along the gravely stricken coast. Business came to a standstill in many sectors.

The death toll neared 120 in 22 states from Colorado to Connecticut, and from Texas to the Canadian border. New York and Pennsylvania led in storm fatalities with 15 each.

Waves up to 14 feet harassed shipping off the New England coast. The Coast Guard cutter General Greene was driven ashore on Cape Cod while aiding a disabled tug.

Two Feet Of Snow

Boston had up to two feet of snow. Providence, R. I., reported an all-time record of 15.6 inches. New York's 14.2 inches was the heaviest since 1948.

Even Dixie was captive to snow and ice, with Atlanta getting its worst winter buffeting in 24 years.

In the Midwest, suffering caused by up to 10 inches of snow was compounded by numbing temperatures that sank to a record low of 18 below zero in Le Mars, Iowa. Wind drifted the snow anew as fast as snowplows cleared highways. South of South Bend, Ind., 40 cars and trucks were trapped on U. S. 31.

In Washington, D. C., snow caused a power failure that plunged Capitol restaurants into darkness, halted all elevators on the House side of the Capitol, and stilled the bells that summon senators for quorum calls on the civil rights filibuster. Congressmen were led to their basement subway by flashlight.

Gale Winds Strike

Gale winds — in New England they reached near-hurricane force — swirled the snow into great drifts that cut off vital services to millions. Roads, from one-lane mountain ruts to the great six-lane turnpikes of the East, were blocked for hours. Tens of thousands of cars were abandoned to the drifts.

Schools were closed from Virginia to Maine. In New York City, more than a million children got a holiday as all public and parochial schools in the city closed.

Sections of all three New York subway systems were knocked out, and thousands of harassed passengers were delayed. It was not until 1 p. m. that service was restored to normal.

A wave of biting cold rolled across the central section of the nation and freezing conditions spread over all but the extreme Southeast, the southern and western fringes and the Southwest.

The mercury reached lows of 27 in Broadus, Mont., -26 in Philip, S.D., -24 in Valentine, Neb., -22 in Grand Forks, N.D., -18 in Le Mars, Iowa, -12 in Goodland, Kan., -11 in Casper, Wyo., and Omaha, Neb., -7 in Duluth, Minn., and -2 in Madison, Wis.

Records for the date were shattered in dozens of cities and towns.

Hard Work Is Key Says Eisenhower

Rejects Idea Of U.S. Developing Plan For Americas

DORADO, Puerto Rico (AP)—President Eisenhower declared Friday only hard thinking and hard work will solve the Western Hemisphere's problems.

He rejected any idea of the United States alone developing a master plan to raise Latin American living standards.

"Panacea proposals, facile solutions, will only lead to disillusionment," Eisenhower told the Caribbean section of the American Assembly, a nonpartisan study group in a report on his 10-day, four-nation tour of South America.

Obviously the major responsibility for a nation's development devolves upon its own people, its own leaders."

The President's voice was husky and grew progressively worse as he read his 1,500-word speech at a luncheon at Dorado Beach, a resort owned by Laurence Rockefeller.

Left It In So. America

"If I have to apologize for my voice, I could do so by saying I left most of it in South America," Eisenhower said.

An aide said dust picked up on the South American tour was to blame rather than the President's chronic bronchitis.

Eisenhower took a brief rest after the luncheon and then changed to golf togs for a foursome on the resort's championship course, one of the finest in the Caribbean.

He played in hot, sunny weather with the blue Atlantic glistening nearby. His partners were his son, Maj. John Eisenhower; his old friend Ed Dudley, former golf pro at the Augusta, Ga., national course who is now consultant here; and Rusty Gilbert, Dorado pro.

Needs for mutual cooperation and for self-help were kindred themes in Eisenhower's address before about 200 members of the assembly. As president of Columbia University 10 years ago he helped form this organization to study and discuss vital issues, including Latin America.

Given Ovation

Given an ovation as he entered, he spoke against the background of big picture windows providing a spectacular view of surf beating against a rocky shore.

"Our hemisphere, from the polar cap to the arctic ice, is a geographical unity," he said. "For the advantage of all its nations the hemisphere should be characterized by mutually helpful economic cooperation."

"With proper respect to the sovereignty of its states and the cultural heritages of its peoples, here should be a mutual security unity and, in its philosophy of representative free government, complete political harmony."

Austria To Get Atomic Reactor

Herbert R. O'Connor, 63, Former U. S. Senator, Maryland Governor, Dies

BALTIMORE, March 4 (AP)—Herbert R. O'Connor, twice governor of Maryland and an outspoken opponent of communism during his six years in the U. S. Senate, died Friday. He was 63.

He was hospitalized Thursday for treatment of a heart condition that plagued him for the last three years. Death was attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage.

O'Connor, a handsome Irish Democrat with an infectious grin, became a power in Maryland politics largely through his gift of oratory and ability to make fast friends.

Born in a typical Baltimore row house, he became a police and court reporter for The Baltimore Sun after his graduation from the University of Maryland law school. After a short time he was appointed an assistant state's attorney and, at the age of 25, began his career of public service.

In relatively quick succession, he was elected state's attorney for Baltimore, Maryland attorney general and, at the age of 42 was elected governor.

He became a strong supporter of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and gave outright support to a third term for FDR.

After he won reelection in 1942 he began to be recognized nationally. He was elected chairman of the Governor's Conference in 1942 and the next year became president of the Council of State Governments.

He was the logical party nominee for the U. S. Senate in 1946 and was elected, but by the narrowest margin of his career. There he succeeded Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) as chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

But he and President Truman often differed, especially on the subject of Communist influence. Close friends said that one of the reasons he decided to retire from public office at the end of his six-year term in 1952 was to per-

Atomic 'Clock' Accurate For 1,000 Years

BOULDER, Colo., (AP)—Imagine, if you can, setting your watch only once every 1,000 years. Imagine, too, that 1,000 years hence you'd find your watch accurate to within a single second. This concept illustrates the accuracy of a new atomic "clock" which has been perfected by scientists at the National Bureau of Standards' Boulder laboratories. The project was started in 1946.

Announcement of the unique accuracy which the clock achieves was made Friday by Dr. Richard C. Mockler.

Actually, the new instrument is a standard of frequency instead of time. It helps maintain the accuracy of radio signals broadcast by the bureau so that power companies know they are sending 60-cycle current into your home.

It also assures that radio and TV stations are transmitting on their assigned frequency and that the electronics industry can accurately measure the frequency of electrical energy.

The clock ascertains the vibration rate of atoms of cesium, a soft silvery metallic element mined in South Dakota. The metal's atoms vibrate 9,200,000,000 times per second, fast enough to offer great accuracy and yet slow enough to be detected by current instrumentation.

The new clock measures both time and frequency by the "ticks" of cesium atoms. Dr. Mockler said it is believed to be the most accurate such instrument in the world and is "10 times more accurate than any previous NBS clock."

Filibuster By South Breaks Time Records

Orators Continue Despite Partial Power Breakdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—A partial power failure hit the Capitol Friday as the Southern filibuster against a civil rights bill toppled Senate endurance records.

One senator, A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.), professed to see a connection between the electrical failure and the round-the-clock grind by which Senate leaders have been trying to wear down Southern orators.

On the floor, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) showed no signs of wearing down as he took his turn in the Southern lineup. McClellan declared that even if the Senate passed every proposal offered, civil rights advocates would be back next year "demanding more legislation."

"You can't satisfy them," he said. "How are you going to end it? The only way to deal with it is to stop considering this eternal hollering about civil rights."

Exhausted Equipment

Monroney told the Senate during one interval that the continuous sessions which began last Monday noon have completely exhausted Senate equipment, while leaving the Southerners fresh as daisies.

Building engineers said they thought the power breakdown was caused by the grounding of electrical equipment by Thursday's 8-inch snowfall.

The temporary shutdown knocked out the lights and electric ovens in the Senate and House restaurants, stalled some elevators, and silenced the quorum call bells. The Senate chamber itself, fed by a different power line, was not affected.

Clerks used the telephone to summon absent members to quorum calls.

While weary senators lunched by candlelight on salads, sandwiches and lukewarm soup, the clocks that were still working ticked off a new record for an unbroken Senate session.

At 1:39 p. m. the Senate had been sitting without a break for 54 hours and 11 minutes, surpassing a record of 45 years standing.

Previous Record Broken

The previous record of 54 hours and 10 minutes was set in 1915 during a successful filibuster against a ship purchase bill proposed by President Woodrow Wilson.

Another mark that fell during the day was one of 85 hours and 23 minutes set in 1954 for a practically continuous session. The present marathon, which was broken by one 15-minute recess Wednesday morning, passed the 96th hour of a virtually continuous session at noon Friday.

The 1954 stetchout was an effort to wear down opponents of an atomic energy bill involving the issue of public vs. private power. That session was broken by one 24-minute recess.

Rivals Join To Hit GOP Policy

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, joined Friday night in roasting the Eisenhower administration's policies.

The two senators interrupted their battling for Wisconsin's delegate votes to appear on the same platform, the Kansas Democratic State Convention.

Humphrey earlier had declined an invitation to speak here, but he changed his mind Friday. He said in Superior, Wis., he did so for a chance to debate the issues with Kennedy—something Humphrey said he had been unable to get Kennedy to do in their Wisconsin primary battle.

In their addresses, there was little of debate but much agreement that the Republicans have made a mess of things under President Eisenhower.

They promised action would be substituted for drift under a Democratic president in a many-sided contest with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy said the Eisenhower administration has been marked by indecision and doubt. Humphrey termed the Eisenhower years the "big deal for the millionaires."

Opera Singer Dies On Stage

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Leonard Warren, one of the Metropolitan Opera's leading baritones, collapsed and died on stage Friday night during a performance.

Warren, 49, collapsed during the second act of Verdi's "La Forza del Destino," in which he was singing the role of Don Carlo.

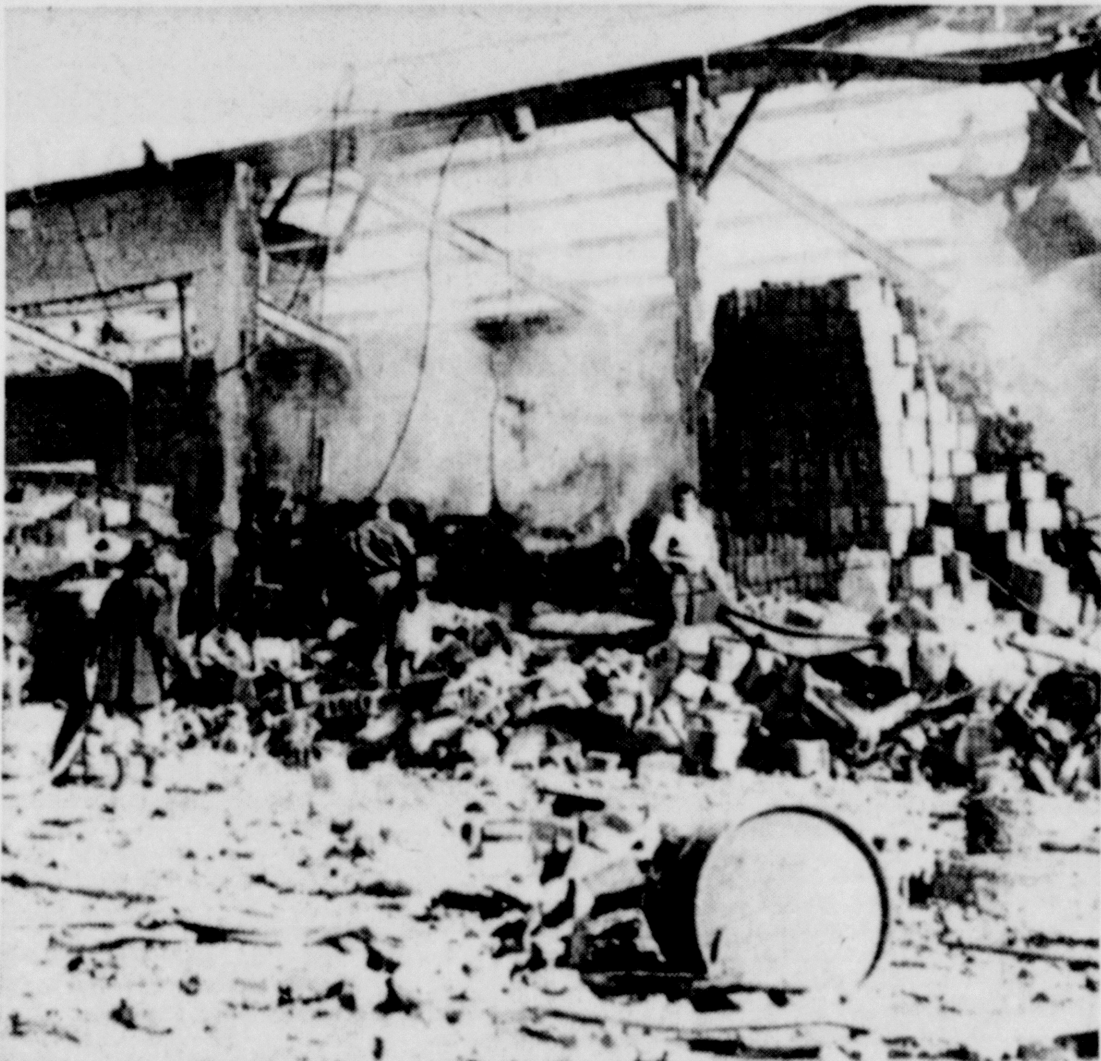

The 6-foot singer fell in full view of a horrified audience. The curtain was rung down immediately.

Rudolf Bing, the general manager of the Met, announced the death to the audience minutes later and said the show would not go on.

Austria To Get Atomic Reactor

VIENNA (AP)—Austria soon will have its first atomic research reactor, capable of producing 12,000 kilowatts of power. The 5-million dollar project is being built by the American Machine and Foundry Co. of New York in conjunction with several Austrian firms.

Herbert R. O'Connor, 63, Former U. S. Senator, Maryland Governor, Dies

BALTIMORE, March 4 (AP)—for Baltimore, Maryland attorney general and, at the age of 42 was elected governor.

He became a strong supporter of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and gave outright support to a third term for FDR.

After he won reelection in 1942 he began to be recognized nationally. He was elected chairman of the Governor's Conference in 1942 and the next year became president of the Council of State Governments.

He was the logical party nominee for the U. S. Senate in 1946 and was elected, but by the narrowest margin of his career. There he succeeded Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) as chairman of the Senate Crime Investigation Committee.

But he and President Truman often differed, especially on the subject of Communist influence. Close friends said that one of the reasons he decided to retire from public office at the end of his six-year term in 1952 was to per-

Atomic 'Clock' Accurate For 1,000 Years

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Imagine, if you can, setting your watch only once every 1,000 years. Imagine, too, that 1,000 years hence you'd find your watch accurate to within a single second.

This concept illustrates the accuracy of a new atomic "clock" which has been perfected by scientists at the National Bureau of Standards' Boulder laboratories. The project was started in 1946.

Announcement of the unique accuracy which the clock achieves was made Friday by Dr. Richard C. Mockler.

Actually, the new instrument is a standard of frequency instead of time. It helps maintain the accuracy of radio signals broadcast by the bureau so that power companies know they are sending 60-cycle current into your home.

It also assures that radio and TV stations are transmitting on their assigned frequency and that the electronics industry can accurately measure the frequency of electrical energy.

The clock ascertains the vibration rate of atoms of cesium, a soft silvery metallic element mined in South Dakota. The metal's atoms vibrate 9,200,000,000 times per second, fast enough to offer great accuracy and yet slow enough to be detected by current instrumentation.

The new clock measures both time and frequency by the "ticks" of cesium atoms. Dr. Mockler said it is believed to be the most accurate such instrument in the world and is "10 times more accurate than any previous NBS clock."

Filibuster By South Breaks Time Records

Orators Continue Despite Partial Power Breakdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—A partial power failure hit the Capitol Friday as the Southern filibuster against a civil rights bill toppled Senate endurance records.

One senator, A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.), professed to see a connection between the electrical failure and the round-the-clock grind by which Senate leaders have been trying to wear down Southern orators.

On the floor, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) showed no signs of wearing down as he took his turn in the Southern lineup. McClellan declared that even if the Senate passed every proposal offered, civil rights advocates would be back next year "demanding more legislation."

"You can't satisfy them," he said. "How are you going to end it? The only way to deal with it is to stop considering this eternal hollering about civil rights."

Exhausted Equipment

Monroney told the Senate during one interval that the continuous sessions which began last Monday noon have completely exhausted Senate equipment, while leaving the Southerners fresh as daisies.

Building engineers said they thought the power breakdown was caused by the grounding of electrical equipment by Thursday's 8-inch snowfall.

The temporary shutdown knocked out the lights and electric ovens in the Senate and House restaurants, stalled some elevators, and silenced the quorum call bells. The Senate chamber itself, fed by a different power line, was not affected.

Clerks used the telephone to summon absent members to quorum calls.

While weary senators lunched by candlelight on salads, sandwiches and lukewarm soup, the clocks that were still working ticked off a new record for an unbroken Senate session.

At 1:39 p. m. the Senate had been sitting without a break for 54 hours and 11 minutes, surpassing a record of 45 years standing.

Previous Record Broken

The previous record of 54 hours and 10 minutes was set in 1915 during a successful filibuster against a ship purchase bill proposed by President Woodrow Wilson.

Another mark that fell during the day was one of 85 hours and 23 minutes set in 1954 for a practically continuous session. The present marathon, which was broken by one 15-minute recess Wednesday morning, passed the 96th hour of a virtually continuous session at noon Friday.

The 1954 stretchout was an effort to wear down opponents of an atomic energy bill involving the issue of public vs. private power. That session was broken by one 24-minute recess.

Rivals Join To Hit GOP Policy

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, joined Friday night in roasting the Eisenhower administration's policies.

The two senators interrupted their battling for Wisconsin's delegate votes to appear on the same platform, the Kansas Democratic State Convention.

Humphrey earlier had declined an invitation to speak here, but he changed his mind Friday. He said in Superior, Wis., he did so for a chance to debate the issues with Kennedy—something Humphrey said he had been unable to get Kennedy to do in their Wisconsin primary battle.

In their addresses, there was little of debate but much agreement that the Republicans have made a mess of things under President Eisenhower.

They promised action would be substituted for drift under a Democratic president in a many-sided contest with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy said the Eisenhower administration has been marked by indecision and doubt. Humphrey termed the Eisenhower years the "big deal for the millionaires."

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's new prince has gained nine ounces since his birth two weeks ago, it was reported from Buckingham Palace Friday.

Bible-Carrying Students Jailed In Sumter, S. C.

By The Associated Press

Police in Sumter, S. C., jailed 26 Bible-carrying Negro college students Friday as demonstrations against segregated lunch counters continued to spread across the South.

The movement reached Miami, Fla., where eight ministers tried unsuccessfully to break the color barrier in a downtown department store lunchroom.

In Nashville, Tenn., state warrants were issued charging 80 students, most of them Negroes, with conspiring to violate the state trade and commerce law by helping direct last Saturday's lunch counter sit-in demonstrations.

Those charged included the Rev. James Lawson, Negro student expelled from the Vanderbilt University Divinity School on grounds he was a leader in the demonstrations.

The students posted bond. Officials said the cases will be presented to the grand jury which meets Monday. Conviction could carry a maximum penalty of 11 months, 29 days in the workhouse or a $1,000 fine or both.

Breach of the peace charges were filed against the 26 students who tried to obtain service at three stores in Sumter. All posted bonds of $100 each.

In Columbia, S. C., students from two church-supported Negro colleges, Allen and Benedict, agreed to discontinue for the present their campaign for integrated lunch counters.

Four variety stores in Winston-Salem, N. C., reopened their lunch counters after warning that demonstrators would be prosecuted as trespassers. None appeared.

A group of Negro students from Barber-Scotia College in Concord, N. C., held a religious service on the courthouse lawn, ignoring the jeers and catcalls from a group of white youths.

Graham Gets Faith Challenge

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham was challenged Friday to a healing contest to see whether Christianity is more powerful than Islam.

On his return to Nairobi from Ruanda Urundi on his African safari, Graham was handed a letter from the chief of the Ahmadiyya Moslem Mission in East Africa, Maulana Sheikh Mubarak Ahmad.

The letter claimed Islam alone is the living religion on earth to-day through which man can attain salvation and that Christianity is utterly devoid of any heavenly blessing or true guidance for man.

"I therefore invite you in all humbleness and sincerity for the benefit of the ignorant masses to a contest in which we may demonstrate the truth of our respective claims," it said.

Graham declined comment on the challenge and one of his associates said it was doubtful he would make any reply.

Woodland Fires Burn 2,000 Acres

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Fires burned nearly 2,000 acres of forest and woodland and caused an estimated $36,363 damage last year in Maryland.

Director Joseph F. Kaylor of the Department of Forest and Parks said this is a slight increase over the previous year.

Kaylor listed frequent short spells of dry summer weather and increased juvenile incendiarism as reasons for the increase.

He estimated it cost nearly $12,500 to fight the forest fires last year.

State Democrats Saddened By O'Connor's Death

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes and other Maryland Democrats expressed sadness on learning of the death of former Gov. O'Connor, and praised his service to the state.

Tawes, informed of the news in New York where he is on a weekend visit, said:

"I was profoundly saddened to learn of the death of that great Marylander. His death will be mourned by the many thousands of Maryland citizens who knew him and loved him.

"Herbert O'Connor was one of the most eminent statesmen the state has produced in this century. He served with great distinction and great brilliance as a state's attorney in Baltimore, as attorney general, as governor for two terms and finally as a United States senator.

"It was my privilege to be associated with him closely during a part of his career, having been comptroller of the treasury while he was governor of the state. His intelligence, his integrity and his great zeal was an inspiration to all of us who had that privilege.

"I extend my heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. O'Connor and the other members of his family. The state has suffered a great loss, and I know all Marylanders share my grief at his passing."

Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., who succeeded O'Connor for a four-year term, said "I am shocked to learn of his sudden death.

"It has been my privilege to have known and worked with him for more than 30 years. This state has lost a great leader and I have lost a valued friend."

Lane, who is president of the Herald-Mail Co., publishers of newspapers in Hagerstown, extended "deepest sympathies" to Mrs. O'Connor and her family.

At Annapolis, where the Maryland Legislature just completed a 30-day session, House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges) remarked:

"Maryland has lost a truly outstanding man. It was my pleasure to serve in the Legislature when he was governor and I had numerous contacts with him while he was a U.S. senator. I always found him to be a dedicated public servant and an excellent leader.

"He will be sorely missed, not only by his family, but by every citizen of our great state."

In Washington, Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) interrupted the civil rights debate in the Senate to announce the death of O'Connor, his predecessor in the Senate.

Beall said O'Connor's sincere and dedicated work stood as a great memorial to him. Sens. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.), Olin D. Johnston (D-SC), Harry Floyd Byrd (D-Va.) and John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), who were on the floor, also arose to eulogize O'Connor. Holland called him "not only a great public servant but a grand friend."

Helicopter Takes Sick Woman From Blocked House

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A Navy helicopter brought a 42-year-old Elliott woman to the Cambridge-Maryland Hospital Friday shortly after she suffered a heart attack near her snow-blocked home.

Mrs. Robert Hurley apparently was walking toward the front door of her daughter's home in Elliott, 30 miles southeast of here, when the attack occurred.

The daughter called for an ambulance, but heavy snow had blocked the only road leading into the small community. Finally, a helicopter was summoned from the naval station at Solomons, across Chesapeake Bay.

The copter brought Mrs. Hurley to the front lawn of the hospital, where she was met by Dr. William Hanks of Cambridge. The hospital said Mrs. Hurley was resting comfortably.

Navy Authorized To Pull Out Of Defense System

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Joint Chiefs of Staff overrode the recommendations of the chief of the North American Defense Command in authorizing the Navy to pull its destroyer escort picket ships out of the Distant Early Warning system.

The Navy announced Thursday night that 15 radar picket destroyers which have been operating in the seaward expansion of the land-based DEW line system to warn of the approach of enemy bombers toward North America will be taken out of commission within the next two months.

Originally there were 36 destroyers escort picket ships in the DEW system. Four of them will continue to work converted merchant ships in the radar warning system. 14 will be assigned to anti-submarine warfare, two will be assigned to the trust territories patrol in the Pacific and the other 15 will be mothballed.

Gen. Laurence Kuter, chief of the North American Defense Command, was asked through an aide if he had approved the proposal to withdraw the destroyers from his unified command, which includes Air Force, Army and Navy units.

"No," he told his aide, when reached by phone at Thule, Greenland, where Kuter was starting an inspection trip of the DEW system.

At the Pentagon, newsmen were told that the Joint Chiefs had approved the cutback plan when the Navy submitted it to the strategic-making organization and that Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. had okayed the action of the chiefs.

Navy Searches For Lost Pilot

OCEANA, Va. (UPI)—Navy patrol planes searched the Atlantic Friday for a pilot stationed at Oceana Naval Air Station presumed dead after his jet fighter crashed Thursday night.

Object of the search was Lt. Delbert L. Nall, 32, whose wife lives in Virginia Beach, Va. The Navy said Nall's plane crashed shortly after takeoff Thursday night when ground installations lost radar contact.

Helicopters and surface vessels searched the area in rain and occasional snow flurries.

Storm Costs SRC $145,228 To Fight

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Roads Commission announced Friday that it used 1,460 men to clear the 4,700 miles of State highways during a 22-hour period of the winter's worst storm which began Wednesday night.

The commission said it cost $145,228 to fight the storm.

The first equipment hit the roads as soon as the snow began to fall. Plows, salt, abrasives and other snow fighting equipment were used to keep the highways open.

The commission used 535 State-owned vehicles and 136 hired vehicles to clear the roads. The SRC also spread 1,707 tons of salt and 1,234 yards of abrasives.

Death Toll Rises

SHANNON, Ireland (UPI)—The number of victims in the Alitalia airliner crash here on Feb. 26 rose to 34 Friday with the death of 50-year-old Antonio Frapagane, an Italian national. All but two of the 18 remaining survivors were out of danger, officials said.

Holdup Men Caught After Bank Robbery

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—When Mrs. Alice Wiseman of Salt Lake City answered her doorbell at 7:30 Friday morning, she began the "most exciting day of my life."

Her callers were two young gunmen who—within two dramatic hours—engineered a $33,877 bank robbery, only to be caught, cowering in a closet at the apartment of three girl friends.

The men, Milton C. Jacobson, 21, San Francisco, and Edwin E. Albaugh, 14, Twin Falls, Ida., and Arlington, Va., were charged with bank robbery and kidnapping. The loot was recovered.

When Mrs. Wiseman, 52, answered the bell at her modest residence in southeastern Salt Lake City, she was shoved roughly aside. The men—one with a long-barreled .22 revolver, the other a .45 automatic—covered Mrs. Wiseman and her husband, Thomas, manager of the central branch of the Continental Bank.

Forty minutes after they arrived and nearing the time for a clock to open the vault, Jacobson forced Wiseman to drive to the bank. There, he lined up arriving employees, made them dump all their currency into a briefcase and left with a warning not to call police if Mrs. Wiseman was not to be harmed.

Albaugh remained at the residence until his five-foot-five accomplice returned. They drove away in Wiseman's bank car. The relieved housewife then called her husband.

The auto was found several blocks away.

Neighbors reported seeing two men abandon the car and run to a small cabin behind a motel. FBI agents, highway patrolmen, Salt Lake County deputies and officers from the Salt Lake City and South Salt Lake police departments converged there.

Deputies Elmer Leak, Pete Hayward and Pete Dow entered the apartment. Three 21-year-old girls, Margie Jalpin of Durango, Colo., Virginia Wadleigh of Portland and Martha Gault of Roosevelt, Utah, insisted they'd seen none.

"We could have got our heads blown off because of that," Dow snorted. "But we went in anyway and there, in a closet but still with their guns, were the guys we were looking for."

Jacobson and Albaugh admitted the robbery to Sheriff George Beckstead but pleaded not guilty to both robbery and kidnapping when arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Edward M. Garnett. They were held without bail. The girls were jailed for questioning as accessories.

Phyllis Lever Chosen Queen

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Miss Phyllis Lever was named "Miss Maryland" Friday night of the University of Maryland's annual Junior Prom held at Indian Spring Country Club, Silver Spring.

The 20-year-old junior in the College of Education was picked by Steve Allen, television personality, from five contestants.

Allen chose the winner from photographs submitted to him by the contest officials. He was not here in person.

Phyllis is the daughter of Mrs. D. Lever, 2910 Rockrose Avenue, Baltimore.

The other finalists were Miss Carol Jansen, Indian Head; Miss Nancyanne Owens, Washington, D. C.; Miss E. Page Swartz, Silver Spring, and Miss Alice Packard, Towson.

The five finalists were chosen by a vote of the university student body.

Falls Through Roof

"Heavy pieces of equipment fell through our roof and through the second floor down to the first floor where I was working," he said. "I couldn't move. I stayed where I was."

"I saw many people outside running and being knocked down by objects flying through the air."

Montero said he was unhurt.

Hours after the first explosions the burning wreckage was too hot for close approach by rescue workers.

The area was a scene of developing chaos in the late afternoon and early evening.

Agents of the 4,310-ton French-flagged La Coubre said the ship arrived from Le Havre, France, Friday morning with a mixed cargo including from 31 to 76 tons of explosives and grenades that had been loaded on at Antwerp (Anvers), Belgium.

The captain was identified as Georges Dalmes, 49, of Le Havre.

The captain was removed from the blast area in an ambulance along with four crew members.

Havana radio stations appealed to all available doctors to report at once to hospitals and first aid stations.

The freighter exploded more than a mile from the spot in Havana Bay where the U.S. battleship Maine was blown up in mid-February 1898 with a loss of 266 lives.

The explosions showered steel scrap over the nearby area about a mile from the Cuban Capitol.

They buckled metal doors, smashed windows and cracked balconies within a radius of 500 yards in addition to destroying a warehouse nearby.

The second major explosion, a half hour or so after the first, caught many firemen and police alongside the burning ship.

A pier about 100 yards away caved in under the impact and was left with a gaping hole in the middle as though a heavy object had plummeted through it.

Their purpose is to help lawyers to acquire insight into the human factors of the problems they face.

School Budget

would be to provide pay increases for school custodians.

An increase of $26,974 in the transportation budget would send it from $376,800 to $403,774. All of the increase is for contract services. That is because 18 school buses must be replaced under state regulations because they are 12 years old. Two other bus routes will be extended too.

The budget for other school services is up $2,100 from $63,250 to $65,350 because of pay increases for the supervisor of pupil personnel and the visiting teachers. The school maintenance budget is advanced $600 from $152,360 to $152,960.

Fixed Charges Down

Two others are lower for the new fiscal year. The item for fixed charges is down $18,739 from $75,404 to $56,665. This is primarily due to the change in the insurance on school buildings which cost $26,739 in the past budget. By cancelling policies and renewing them under lower rates the county realized more than enough in premium payments to pay for the 1960-61 insurance costs. Social Security will cost $8,000 more because of the higher rate now in effect.

Also decreased in the new budget is the administration cost, down from $86,665 to $81,865, a drop of $4,800.

After receiving the budget, John J. Rowan, president of the county commissioners, said there will be no salary increases for teachers until the various low-paid county workers receive a boost in pay.

A higher assessable basis for the coming fiscal year appears assured. Last year the county commissioners used one of $162,000,000. State figures show the basis had gone up to $172,758,834 as of November 30, including about $7,000,000 in motor vehicles. Mr. Webster used a $178,000,000 basis, including $7,000,000 for motor vehicles, in figuring his budget. The higher basis means that each penny on the tax rate brings in more county money.

Two Youths Draw Suspended Terms

Two local young men yesterday were given suspended sentences as the House of Correction after they were found guilty of charges which stemmed from a beatnik-style party early Thursday.

Given hearings in Juvenile Court were Thomas Edmondson, 21, of RFD 4 Oldtown Road, and Robert Jenkins, 18, of 45 Greene Street.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found the two guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl and gave each a six-month suspended term in the House of Correction.

Another local man and a local boy each were given six-month terms in the House of Correction on similar charges at a hearing Thursday in Juvenile Court.

The Federal Aviation Agency has allocated $158,300 during the 1961 fiscal year toward the establishment of a Garrett County Airport at Oakland.

The FAA said the funds have been allocated to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners. Funds will be used to acquire land for an airport site and clear zones, to construct an east-west runway 2,500 feet long and 75 feet wide and an apron and connecting taxiway.

Funds are also expected to finance necessary approach clearing and the construction of an access road.

Bible-Carrying Students Jailed In Sumter, S. C.

By The Associated Press
Police in Sumter, S.C., jailed 26 Bible-carrying Negro college students Friday as demonstrators against segregated lunch counters continued to spread across the South.

The movement reached Miami, Fla., where eight ministers tried unsuccessfully to break the color barrier in a downtown department store lunchroom.

In Nashville, Tenn., state warrants were issued charging 30 students, most of them Negroes, with conspiring to violate the state trade and commerce law by helping direct last Saturday's lunch counter sit-in demonstrations.

Those charged included the Rev. James Lawson, Negro student expelled from the Vanderbilt University Divinity School on grounds he was a leader in the demonstrations.

The students posted bond. Officials said the cases will be presented to the grand jury which meets Monday. Conviction could carry a maximum penalty of 11 months, 29 days in the workhouse or a $1,000 fine or both.

Breach of the peace charges were filed against the 26 students who tried to obtain service at three stores in Sumter. All posted bonds of $100 each.

In Columbia, S.C., students from two church-supported Negro colleges, Allen and Benedict, agreed to discontinue for the present their campaign for integrated lunch counters.

Four variety stores in Winston-Salem, N.C., reopened their lunch counters after warning that demonstrators would be prosecuted as trespassers. None appeared.

A group of Negro students from Barber-Scotia College in Concord, N.C., held a religious service on the courthouse lawn, ignoring the jeers and catcalls from a group of white youths.

Graham Gets Faith Challenge

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham was challenged Friday to a healing contest to see whether Christianity is more powerful than Islam.

On his return to Nairobi from Ruanda Urundi on his African safari, Graham was handed a letter from the chief of the Ahmadiyya Muslim Mission in East Africa, Maulana Sheikh Mubarak Ahmad.

The letter claimed Islam alone is the living religion on earth today through which man can attain salvation and that Christianity is utterly devoid of any heavenly blessing or true guidance for man.

"I therefore invite you in all humbleness and sincerity for the benefit of the ignorant masses to a contest in which we may demonstrate the truth of our respective claims," it said.

Graham declined comment on the challenge and one of his associates said it was doubtful he would make any reply.

Woodland Fires Burn 2,000 Acres

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Fires burned nearly 2,000 acres of forest and woodland and caused an estimated $36,585 damage last year in Maryland.

Director Joseph F. Kaylor of the Department of Forest and Parks said this is a slight increase over the previous year.

Kaylor listed frequent short spells of dry summer weather and increased juvenile incendiary as reasons for the increase.

He estimated it cost nearly $12,500 to fight the forest fires last year.

State Democrats Saddened By O'Connor's Death

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes and other Maryland Democrats expressed sadness on learning of the death of former Gov. O'Connor, and praised his service to the state.

Tawes, informed of the news in New York where he is on a week-end visit, said:

"I was profoundly saddened to learn of the death of that great Marylander. His death will be mourned by the many thousands of Maryland citizens who knew him and loved him."

"Herbert O'Connor was one of the most eminent statesmen the state has produced in this century. He served with great distinction and great brilliance as a state's attorney in Baltimore, as attorney general, as governor for two terms and finally as a United States senator."

"It was my privilege to be associated with him closely during a part of his career, having been controller of the treasury while he was governor of the state. His intelligence, his integrity and his great zeal was an inspiration to all of us who had that privilege."

"I extend my heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. O'Connor and the other members of his family. The state has suffered a great loss, and I know all Marylanders share my grief at his passing."

Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., who succeeded O'Connor for a four-year term, said "I am shocked to learn of his sudden death."

"It has been my privilege to have known and worked with him for more than 30 years. This state has lost a great leader and I have lost a valued friend."

Lane, who is president of the Herald-Mail Co., publishers of newspapers in Hagerstown, extended "deepest sympathies" to Mrs. O'Connor and her family.

At Annapolis, where the Maryland Legislature just completed a 30-day session, House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges) remarked:

"Maryland has lost a truly outstanding man. It was my pleasure to serve in the Legislature when he was governor and I had numerous contacts with him while he was a U.S. senator. I always found him to be a dedicated public servant and an excellent leader."

"He will be sorely missed, not only by his family, but by every citizen of our great state."

In Washington, Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) interrupted the civil rights debate in the Senate to announce the death of O'Connor, his predecessor in the Senate.

Beall said O'Connor's sincere and dedicated work stood as a great memorial to him. Sens. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.), Olin D. Johnston (D-SC), Barry Floyd Byrd (D-Va.) and John O. Pastore (D-RI), who were on the floor, also arose to eulogize O'Connor. Holland called him "not only a great public servant but a grand friend."

Helicopter Takes Sick Woman From Blocked House

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A Navy helicopter brought a 42-year-old Elliott woman to the Cambridge-Maryland Hospital Friday shortly after she suffered a heart attack near her snow-blocked home.

Mrs. Robert Hurley apparently was walking toward the front door of her daughter's home in Elliott, 30 miles southeast of here, when the attack occurred.

The daughter called for an ambulance, but heavy snow had blocked the only road leading into the small community. Finally, a helicopter was summoned from the naval station at Solomons, across Chesapeake Bay.

The copter brought Mrs. Hurley to the front lawn of the hospital, where she was met by Dr. William Hanks of Cambridge. The hospital said Mrs. Hurley was resting comfortably.

Navy Authorized To Pull Out Of Defense System

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Joint Chiefs of Staff overrode the recommendations of the chief of the North American Defense Command in authorizing the Navy to pull its destroyer escort picket ships out of the Distant Early Warning system.

The Navy announced Thursday night that 15 radar picket destroyers which have been operating in the seaward expansion of the land-based DEW line system to warn of the approach of enemy bombers toward North America will be taken out of commission within the next two months.

Originally there were 36 destroyer escort picket ships in the DEW system. Four of them will continue to work converted merchant ships in the radar warning system. 14 will be assigned to anti-submarine warfare, two will be assigned to the trust territories patrol in the Pacific and the other 15 will be mothballed.

Gen. Laurence Kuter, chief of the North American Defense Command, was asked through an aide if he had approved the proposal to withdraw the destroyers from his unified command, which includes Air Force, Army and Navy units.

"No," he told his aide, when reached by phone at Thule, Greenland, where Kuter was starting an inspection trip of the DEW system.

At the Pentagon, newsmen were told that the Joint Chiefs had approved the cutback plan when the Navy submitted it to the strategy-making organization and that Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. had okayed the action of the chiefs.

Chinese Bishop Dies

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican announced Friday that 91-year-old Bishop Simon Chu Kai-min, one of the oldest Roman Catholic prelates in the world, died last week in Shanghai. Bishop Chu Kai-min was prevented from continuing his religious duties by Communist Chinese authorities in 1946. Cause and details of his death were not disclosed.

Police Say

out papers when the first explosion sounded.

Falls Through Roof
"Heavy pieces of equipment fell through our roof and through the second floor down to the first floor where I was working," he said. "I couldn't move. I stayed where I was."

"I saw many people outside running and being knocked down by objects flying through the air," Montero said he was unhurt.

Hours after the first explosion the burning wreckage was too hot for close approach by rescue workers.

The area was a scene of developing chaos in the late afternoon and early evening.

Agents of the 4,310-ton French-flagged La Coubre said the ship arrived from Le Havre, France, Friday morning with a mixed cargo including from 31 to 76 tons of explosives and grenades that had been loaded on at Antwerp (Anvers), Belgium.

The captain was identified as Georges Dalme, 49, of Le Havre. The captain was removed from the blast area in an ambulance along with four crew members.

Havana radio stations appealed to all available doctors to report at once to hospitals and first aid stations.

The freighter exploded more than a mile from the spot in Havana Bay where the U.S. battleship Maine was blown up in mid-February 1898 with a loss of 266 lives.

The explosions showered steel scrap over the nearby area about a mile from the Cuban Capital.

They buckled metal doors, smashed windows and cracked balconies within a radius of 500 yards in addition to destroying a warehouse nearby.

The second major explosion, a half hour or so after the first, caught many firemen and police alongside the burning ship.

A pier about 100 yards away caved in under the impact and was left with a gaping hole in the middle as though a heavy object had plummeted through it.

Holdup Men Caught After Bank Robbery

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—When Mrs. Alice Wiseman of Salt Lake City answered her doorbell at 7:30 Friday morning, she began the "most exciting day of my life."

Her callers were two young gunmen who—within two dramatic hours—engineered a $33,877 bank robbery, only to be caught, covering in a closet at the apartment of three girl friends.

The men, Milton C. Jacobson, 21, San Francisco, and Edwin E. Albaugh, 14, Twin Falls, Idaho, and Arlington, Va., were charged with bank robbery and kidnapping. The loot was recovered.

When Mrs. Wiseman, 52, answered the bell at her modest residence in southeastern Salt Lake City, she was shoved roughly aside. The men—one with a long-barreled 22 revolver, the other a 45 automatic—covered Mrs. Wiseman and her husband, Thomas, manager of the central branch of the Continental Bank.

Forty minutes after they arrived and nearing the time for a clock to open the vault, Jacobson forced Wiseman to drive to the bank. There, he lined up arriving employees, made them dump all their currency into a briefcase and left with a warning not to call police if Mrs. Wiseman was not to be harmed.

Albaugh remained at the residence until his five-foot-five accomplice returned. They drove away in Wiseman's bank car. The relieved housewife then called her husband.

The auto was found several blocks away.

Neighbors reported seeing two men abandon the car and run to a small cabin behind a motel. FBI agents, highway patrolmen, Salt Lake County deputies and officers from the Salt Lake City and South Salt Lake police departments converged there.

Deputies Elmer Leak, Pete Hayward and Pete Dow entered the apartment. Three 21-year-old girls, Margie Jalpin of Durango, Colo., Virginia Wadeigh of Portland and Martha Gault of Roosevelt, Utah, insisted they'd seen no one.

"We could have got our heads blown off because of that," Dow snorted. "But we went in anyway and there, in a closet but still with their guns, were the guys we were looking for."

Jacobson and Albaugh admitted the robbery to Sheriff George Beckstead but pleaded not guilty to both robbery and kidnapping when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Edward M. Garnett. They were held without bail. The girls were jailed for questioning as accessories.

Phyllis Lever Chosen Queen

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Miss Phyllis Lever was named "Miss Maryland" Friday night of the University of Maryland's annual Junior Prom held at Indian Spring Country Club, Silver Spring.

The 20-year-old junior in the College of Education was picked by Steve Allen, television personality, from five contestants.

Allen chose the winner from photographs submitted to him by the contest officials. He was not in person.

Phyllis is the daughter of Mrs. D. Lever, 2910 Rockrose Avenue, Baltimore.

The other finalists were Miss Carol Jansen, Indian Head; Miss Nancyanne Owens, Washington, D. C.; Miss E. Page Swartz, Silver Spring, and Miss Alice Packard, Towson.

The five finalists were chosen by a vote of the university student body.

Medico-Legal Program Postponed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The program of the medico-legal institute at the University of Maryland, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, has been postponed indefinitely because of the weather.

The subject of the program, "Basic Psychiatry for Lawyers," sponsored jointly by the School of Law and The Psychiatric Institute of the School of Medicine, is one of a series of medico-legal institutes conducted by the University.

Their purpose is to help lawyers to acquire insight into the human factors of the problems they face.

School Budget

would be to provide pay increases for school custodians.

An increase of $26,974 in the transportation budget would send it from $376,800 to $403,774. All of the increase is for contract services. That is because 18 school buses must be replaced under state regulations because they are 12 years old. Two other bus routes will be extended too.

The budget for other school services is up $2,100 from $63,250 to $65,350 because of pay increases for the supervisor of pupil personnel and the visiting teachers. The school maintenance budget is advanced $600 from $152,360 to $152,960.

Fixed Charges Down

Two other charges are lower for the new fiscal year. The item for fixed charges is down $18,739 from $75,404 to $56,665. This is primarily due to the change in the insurance on school buildings which cost $26,739 in the past budget. By cancelling policies and renewing them under lower rates the county realized more than enough in premium payments to pay for the 1960-61 insurance costs. Social Security will cost $8,000 more because of the higher rate now in effect.

Also decreased in the new budget is the administration cost, down from $86,665 to $81,865, a drop of $4,800.

After receiving the budget, John J. Rowan, president of the county commissioners, said there will be no salary increases for teachers until the various low-paid county workers receive a boost in pay.

A higher assessable basis for the coming fiscal year appears assured. Last year the county commissioners used one of $162,000,000. State figures show the basis had gone up to $172,738,834 as of November 30, including about $7,000,000 in motor vehicles. Mr. Webster used a $178,600,000 basis, including $7,000,000 for motor vehicles, in figuring his budget. The higher basis means that each penny on the tax rate brings in more county money.

Meeting Delayed

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Bad weather has forced postponement until March 19 of a meeting set for here Saturday of the West Virginia Young Republican League's executive and advisory committee.

Airport To Have 2,500-Foot Runway

The Federal Aviation Agency has allocated $138,300 during the 1961 fiscal year toward the establishment of a Garrett County Airport at Oakland.

The FAA said the funds have been allocated to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

Funds will be used to acquire land for an airport site and clear zones, to construct an east-west runway 2,500 feet long and 75 feet wide and an apron and connecting taxiway.

Funds are also expected to finance necessary approach clearances and the construction of an access road.

The FAA said local project sponsors will match federal funds generally on a 50-50 basis.

Two Youths Draw Suspended Terms

Two local young men yesterday were given suspended sentences as crews open the highway, in the House of Correction after Route 50 east of Romney was reported as being not quite so bad.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said roads in that section were still icy and some tractor-trailers were getting hung up. Chattering crews were out last night.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found the two guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl and gave each a six-month suspended term in the House of Correction.

Another local man and a local boy each were given six-month terms in the House of Correction on similar charges at a hearing Thursday in Juvenile Court.

State Police at LaVale barland for an airport site and clear zones, to construct an east-west runway 2,500 feet long and 75 feet wide and an apron and connecting taxiway.

Funds are also expected to finance necessary approach clearances and the construction of an access road.

The FAA said local project sponsors will match federal funds generally on a 50-50 basis.

U. S. Route 50, which was temporarily closed west of Romney yesterday, was open last night to traffic, although it was in bad shape from the foot of Allegheny Front of New Creek to Gormana.

West Virginia State Police advise chains on that portion of the highway. Snow is drifting as fast as crews open the highway, in the House of Correction after Route 50 east of Romney was reported as being not quite so bad.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said roads in that section were still icy and some tractor-trailers were getting hung up. Chattering crews were out last night.

Funds Asked To Speed Home Garden Plan

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Department of Agriculture has asked for $15,000 out of the Governor's contingent fund to speed up a home vegetable garden program for unemployed West Virginians.

Gov. Cecil H. Underwood said Friday the request was made by Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson last week but that he had not yet determined whether the money could be made available.

Johnson said that without the money, he would not be able to get the program started in time for spring planting. He said it would take about $25,000 just to get the project started.

The 1960 Legislature provided $300,000 for that and other relief programs under the agriculture department but none of the money will be available before July 1, the start of the 1960-61 fiscal year.

Under the garden program, the department would supply unemployed breadwinners who have no other benefits with about $5 worth of seeds and fertilizer for a home garden.

Johnson said the money from the contingent fund would amount to a donation because there is no guarantee that he can reimburse the fund before July 1.

W. Va. Guard Meeting Is Postponed

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — The West Virginia National Guard Assn.'s first annual meeting, scheduled to begin here Saturday, was postponed Friday for five weeks due to the wintry weather.

But the commander of the state Guard, Maj. Gen. William E. Blake, wanted to make it clear that the postponement to April 9-10 was not because members would be unable to get to the scene.

He also said dedication ceremonies for Parkersburg's new $250,000 National Guard Armory would be postponed from Saturday to April 9.

Blake said it was decided to delay the meeting because Guard officers might be needed in their home locales to handle possible emergencies arising from the unusually severe weather.

"Although the National Guard is quite capable of maneuvering in this kind of weather, it would not be advisable to concentrate all our officer strength in one locality," said Blake.

James P. Kenney To Seek Re-Election In Frostburg

FROSTBURG—James P. Kenney, 96 West Main Street, is the third candidate to file for reelection in the April 5 city election here. He is the fourth candidate for a position on the council. He has served for the past two years as water commissioner and previously to that had served seven years as water superintendent. Before becoming superintendent he had served in the water department for four years. He resigned the position as water superintendent to accept employment at the Allegheny Ballistics Plant as a pipefitter and plumber.

Married to the former Mrs. Clarabelle Chaney of Westernport, Kenney has six children, three boys and three girls. The secretary will be in charge of a Lenten breakfast. The date will be announced later.

Kenney is a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church, Knights of Columbus and the American Legion.

In seeking re-election, Kenney said his past two years has proven beneficial to both himself and the city in that many projects were completed. These include—extensive repairs to the Piney Run Dam and the pump house. Due to inadequate housing, pumps had been freezing in winter and it was necessary to erect a new pump house. The dam was drained and several sections repaired.

Two new turbine pumps have been purchased for the Savage River pumping station to replace the 40-year-old pumps there. The new pumps will be installed as soon as weather permits.

Wiring, 30 to 40 years old, at the Savage pumping station was replaced with new. Automatic switches and circuit breakers were installed.

Although he was unable to see that a new transmission line was installed from High Street to Water Street, Kenney said this has high priority for the future as soon as finances can be worked out. He plans, if re-elected, to set aside funds from water sold outside the city limits in a separate account which will be earmarked for replacing some existing small transmission lines.

He also wants to put into effect the recommendations of a survey made in 1948 by Whitman-Requart Associates, engineering firm for the revamping of water lines in Frostburg that would give better fire protection and better service for all consumers.

In the street lighting department, Kenney said, the Potomac Edison Company had made a survey of the town and presented a long range program for the modernization of city lighting. The first phase will go into operation this spring with the first work being done on Water and Broadway Streets from Main to College Avenue, Center and Bowery from Main to Park Avenue and around the hospital. Foot traffic at night around the hospital and the college gives these streets priority, he noted.

If re-elected "I prefer to remain as water commissioner, the position for which I am best suited and best trained," he said.

Westernport To Revise All Ordinances

Council, Attorney Work On Project

WESTERNPORT — The Mayor and Commissioners are making a study of the ordinances of the town and plan to repeal all outmoded ordinances such as requiring all animals have bells attached.

All of the Police ordinances will be placed in one public safety ordinance.

The ordinances are being prepared by Mayor Ray L. Wilt and the Town Council and by Horace P. Whitworth Jr. Several new statutes may be enacted.

The first ordinance of the town was enacted in 1886 making it unlawful to obstruct the town's sewers. Up to 1904 there had been 68 ordinances adopted and then for some reason unknown in 1905 the town began numbering each ordinance beginning at number one. And from then to 1951 there had been 63 ordinances passed. From 1886-87 15 ordinances had been passed but the ones between number one and fifteen cannot be found.

In the early days of the town actions pertaining to certain streets were sometimes called ordinances and sometimes orders. When the work is completed of bringing all of the ordinances up to date, V. Browne Kookan, trial magistrate, will also be provided with a copy of all of the police ordinances. Kookan also serves as the local police magistrate.

Before the recent conference with Mr. Whitworth the Mayor and Council held a short meeting in the Council Chamber and it was decided to purchase three lengths of spouting to put in the filtration plant building to carry off the sweating from the large pipe.

Bernard Guy, operator of the filtration plant asked that five gallons of paint be bought to paint the floors.

A house-to-house water inspection will be conducted this spring and it was ordered that books be printed to make records of the inspection.

Mayor Wilt stated he would advise the County Planning and Zoning Commission that the local council is in favor of anything that will help the Town of Westernport. Westernport has a zoning and building ordinance.

The application of Mrs. Henrietta Kazlo, to serve at the town election in May was received.

Board of Election supervisors were granted permission to use the council chamber Monday, March 14 at 7:30 p. m. to swear in the judges of election.

All of the Police ordinances will be placed in one public safety ordinance.

The ordinances are being prepared by Mayor Ray L. Wilt and the Town Council and by Horace P. Whitworth Jr. Several new statutes may be enacted.

The first ordinance of the town was enacted in 1886 making it unlawful to obstruct the town's sewers. Up to 1904 there had been 68 ordinances adopted and then for some reason unknown in 1905 the town began numbering each ordinance beginning at number one. And from then to 1951 there had been 63 ordinances passed. From 1886-87 15 ordinances had been passed but the ones between number one and fifteen cannot be found.

In the early days of the town, actions pertaining to certain streets were sometimes called ordinances and sometimes orders.

When the work is completed of bringing all of the ordinances up to date, V. Browne Kooker, trial magistrate, will also be provided with a copy of all of the police ordinances. Kooker also serves as the local police magistrate.

Before the recent conference with Mr. Whitworth the Mayor and Council held a short meeting in the Council Chamber and it was decided to purchase three lengths of spouting to put in the filtration plant building to carry off the sweating from the large pipe.

Bernard Guy, operator of the filtration plant asked that five gallons of paint be bought to paint the floors.

A house-to-house water inspection will be conducted this spring and it was ordered that books be printed to make records of the inspection.

Mayor Wilt stated he would advise the County Planning and Zoning Commission that the local council is in favor of anything that will help the Town of Westernport. Westernport has a zoning and building ordinance.

The application of Mrs. Henrietta Kazlo, to serve at the town election in May was received.

Board of Election supervisors were granted permission to use the council chamber Monday, March 14 at 7:30 p. m. to swear in the judges of election.

The purchase of a card file for $34.95 to keep records of the water account was authorized.

CHECK UP

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship.

It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I Corinthians	6	19-20
Monday	Romans	12	3-8
Tuesday	Luke	12	22-30
Wednesday	Psalms	77	11-15
Thursday	Ecclesiastes	3	11-15
Friday	Mark	4	14-25
Saturday	I Corinthians	16	1-2
			13-14

It's a good idea to have a check up every so often. And the idea ought to be extended to our spiritual as well as our physical health.

For instance, how much are we thinking about the truths our churches teach us? Do we understand God . . . His love for men . . . the sacrifice of Christ for our sins . . . the way of Christian living?

And how much are we doing for God and our own souls? Are we worshipping every Sunday . . . rearing our children in the Faith . . . serving the Church and fellowmen according to our talents and physical strength?

And how much are we giving for God to use? Do we promise Him a fair proportion of our income . . . do we set it aside regularly as a sum that belongs to God and to those who need our help . . . do we have the courage and faith to strengthen our Church by more generous support?

CHECK UP

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I Corinthians	6	19-20
Monday	Romans	12	3-8
Tuesday	Luke	12	22-30
Wednesday	Psalms	77	11-15
Thursday	Ecclesiastes	3	11-15
Friday	Mark	4	14-25
Saturday	I Corinthians	16	1-2

It's a good idea to have a check up every so often. And the idea ought to be extended to our spiritual as well as our physical health.

For instance, how much are we thinking about the truths our churches teach us? Do we understand God . . . His love for men . . . the sacrifice of Christ for our sins . . . the way of Christian living?

And how much are we doing for God and our own souls? Are we worshipping every Sunday . . . rearing our children in the Faith . . . serving the Church and fellowmen according to our talents and physical strength?

And how much are we giving for God to use? Do we promise Him a fair proportion of our income . . . do we set it aside regularly as a sum that belongs to God and to those who need our help . . . do we have the courage and faith to strengthen our Church by more generous support?

We Need More Than Platitudes

Self-criticism is good for the ego. It induces modesty, which is one of the excellent virtues, but too much of it can destroy confidence. In recent years Americans have been indulging in an orgy of moral flagellation. University professors, "eminent thinkers," religious leaders and politicians have flayed the affluent society. It has become a pastime for intellectuals, almost as though they were wreaking revenge on those who have slandered them as "eggheads."

The latest example of conscience-probing and soul-searching appeared in the magazine U. S. News and World Report. It asked five "eminent thinkers" to say what was wrong with America.

Dr. Robert E. Fitch, professor of ethics at Pacific University, blamed parents for being too permissive, for not giving their children moral imperatives and attacked psychologists for preaching that a child's greatest need was security, whereas it was natural for it to love adventure.

Dr. Herbert J. Muller, professor of English at Indiana University, said the general laxity was rooted in the profit system, the concern with "what pays"; religion had become a vague belief that "it makes you feel better."

All this may be true and needed, but without practical action it still amounts to a large dose of moralizing whose effects are likely to be destructive instead of uplifting. The affluent society is a state new in the history of the world. Adjustment is a painful process.

Today's youth has rebelled against the standards of older adults. In this sense society is split down the center. There are many indications that the parents of the next generation will be sterner with their offspring than those of this generation. There are many historical precedents for such social reactions.

Nor should the view of American society today be gloomy. At heart most men's desires are simple—a job, a home and peace to raise their families. It is a minority of unscrupulous tormentors that shakes loose these foundations. To remove it requires more than moral platitudinizing.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Keep Them Out

Not always are only the great events significant and important. Sometimes little incidents are of equal significance in an understanding of our times. Some people object to newspapers publishing accounts of murders, rapes, homosexuality and other abominations. But they are wrong. To understand our world, we need to know what is happening in it. When J. Edgar Hoover, officially as head of the FBI, reports on crime and on the lowering of the median crime age, it is tremendously important. When such a movement as the Beatniks appears among our youth, it requires analysis and study. When a Communist movement grows strong or recedes, it is needful to approach the problem with understanding.

So when a Canadian actor named Douglas Campbell is reported by "The Telegram" of Toronto to have lost his temper and said of the United States "Who wants to go to their lousy country, anyway," it requires something more than a passing smirk at boorishness.

Campbell, it seems, got a job doing Squire Trelawney in "Treasure Island" on TV's DuPont "Show of the Month." He was held up at Toronto because the United States Immigration authorities questioned his permissibility for entrance into the United States. He was told that he had to go to Buffalo to be interrogated. According to the Toronto "Telegram," he said:

"It must be pretty pitiful to live in a country like that."

Of course, nobody has to come to the United States to earn money here. No one is so essential that this country cannot get along without him.

I do not know why the U. S. Immigration authorities held up Campbell's permit or why they subsequently consented to his coming to New York to do a DuPont "Show of the Month." I did not bother to inquire because it is not a matter of importance. The United States will survive a hasty or even a nasty criticism by an actor.

What is significant is that Canadians ought to understand that the attitude of the American people is changing from tolerance of impudence to anger at ingratitude. We do admit hundreds of Russians who wander about our country, examining all that we do, being shown every hospitality, but we hold up a Canadian because he delivered an address at a Canadian Peace Congress which is, according to the Toronto "Telegram," considered to be Communist-influenced.

The newspaper quotes Campbell as saying that he did not care whether the Canadian Peace Congress was "Communist, Fascist or Martian."

The treatment of visiting Russians and this Canadian appears at first inconsistent and paradoxical. Actually, it is not. Our government has embarked on a People-to-People campaign as regards the Communist world. Most Americans do not believe in the People-to-People business but they go along with the policy of their government, assuming that someone in it knows what he is doing.

However, when it comes to an individual American or a Canadian or a Britisher who is even suspected of being pro-Communist, the glands get to working, the hackles go up, and somehow one wants to quarrel about it. This may do great injustice to individuals who get themselves involved in attending meetings and signing petitions, not because they really believe in the dicta of Marx and Lenin but because they suffer a compulsion to oppose conformity or they support the "other side"—which other side does not matter. They are like social climbers who tolerate association with scum if it is scum from the right side of the tracks.

The antipathy to such men and women in this country is increasing now that they have again asserted themselves in motion pictures and television. For a number of years, they had been quiescent, hiding under false names and even going into other trades. Now, taking advantage of the valid effort to terminate the Cold War, they are stepping forward, not only disclosing the whereabouts of Russia's friends but their numbers.

Perhaps they are a bit premature. The Cold War is not yet ended. The Summit meetings have not yet taken place. Both sides are still spending their wealth on weapons. I do not know Campbell's politics, but this is not a lousy country and those who feel that way about us ought to stay away from us—far away. We are tired of being benefactors of those who yelp at us.

The (Pow!) Democratic (Pow!) Process

Is It A Sin To Criticize The Supreme Court?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Commenting on a decision this week by our highest court, the following statement has been made in criticism:

"A performance of this kind deprives the Supreme Court of the intellectual respect it needs now more than it ever did, in these demanding times."

Who says this? Does it come from one of the critics who has been lamenting the decisions of the Supreme Court on states' rights, Communism, the Fifth Amendment and so on? Is it a pronouncement by a committee of the American Bar Association or of the Conference of State Supreme Court Justices? Or is it an exclamation by some of the many lawyers and judges who have come to the conclusion that the Supreme Court has usurped legislative functions?

Not at all. The criticism quoted above was made this week in an editorial in The New York "Times" which for a long time has been one of the foremost defenders of Supreme Court rulings.

It so happens that the Court is right in this week's decision and doesn't deserve the blame being heaped on it by those who don't like the ruling. But the importance of the criticism is that it clears the air. It asserts, in effect, that adverse comment on the Supreme Court is not sinful. For, despite the impression that so many mistaken defenders of the Court's legislative rulings have sought to convey in the past, criticism of a court decision is not an "undermining of the institution" — the phrase so often applied to the Court's critics in recent years even by high officials here.

Nobody who is at all familiar with our judicial system really wants to abolish the Supreme Court of the United States as the institution which must decide cases in the jurisdiction specifically prescribed by the laws of Congress and by the provisions of the Constitution. But every critic feels he has a right to point out faulty reasoning of the justices.

The case which aroused the criticism of The New York "Times" concerned two employees of the state of California who were dismissed under an ordinance which says they must be fired if they decline to testify before a Congressional committee concerning subversion. They had invoked the Fifth Amendment and thereby refused to tell about alleged subversive affiliations.

In another instance involving New York state laws, known as the Slochower case, the Supreme Court of the United States had ruled in 1956 that state employees could not be dismissed under a law that said that such employees who invoked the Fifth Amendment would lose their jobs. The "Times" said in its editorial:

"Instead of specifying that employees who refuse to testify at hearings because of possible self-incrimination must be dismissed, the California law requires dismissal of any persons who decline to testify for any reason."

"This distinction without a difference was seized upon by the majority to distinguish Monday's decision from the Slochower case. But for all practical purposes, the latter must now be regarded as a dead letter. If a state or city is wise enough to avoid put-

ATOMIC ENERGY—The joint Congressional committee on atomic energy is about to explode in indignation over the Administration's foot-dragging on development of a nuclear-powered rocket.

For some years the committee has been unhappy about the Atomic Energy Commission's refusal to speed up its work on a nuclear-powered airplane, but has gone along with official explanations that development could not be speeded without possible failure of the entire project.

However, the nuclear rocket is a missile of a different color. This vehicle is America's last remaining hope to recapture the space lead now held by Russia. Yet, committee members charge, certain budget cuts would slow down development for two and possibly three years more, setting the blast-off date back to 1967-69.

Committee members want the program speeded up rather than slowed down. They also want the AEC to step up its work on the nuclear-powered plane.

Behind their growing impatience is the conviction that Russia is working as rapidly as possible toward these goals, and, under present schedules, most likely will win this race also.

Some members frankly express fears of public reaction if Russia should score first in these efforts on top of her string of successes in the missile and space business.

On paper, a nuclear rocket is not only possible, but holds much more promise than the conventional liquid or solid fuel vehicles. A space expert, in recent testimony before the committee, emphasized, "Nuclear power will be to space what the combustion engine was to aeronautics."

Time Won't Stop, But Aging Can Be Delayed

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Time can't be stopped but men and women in their fifties and sixties can delay the aging process by retaining their enthusiasm and zest for life. Apathy as well as disease accelerates deterioration. Now is the time to take stock, especially if you are not feeling up to par and are becoming sloppy in appearance, shiftless, round shouldered, or peppy.

Start the rebuilding program

with a physical checkup. Illness, by reducing life expectancy, prevents many older persons from enjoying the final period of life. Correct minor defects that may lead to a crippling disturbance. Treating high blood pressure at its inception in the early fifties, for example, spares the heart and blood vessels from permanent damage.

Correcting anemia and improving the diet by adding more proteins, vitamins, and minerals may be rejuvenating. Stand tall and pull back the shoulders. This permits the heart and lungs to function properly and prevents the abdominal organs from being crowded. A little exercise and more roughage will help elimination.

Meanwhile, "get help" and find some justification for living, if you think you are too old for this world. Participate in something and stop thinking and talking old. Withdrawing from social contacts leads to a vegetative, unhappy existence.

I'm not implying that all retired persons are unhappy. Even though they are consumers rather than producers, those who are spry and keen of mind are actively engaged in hobbies or improving their mind and body. They are not sitting in the rocking chair waiting for the end.

These busy oldsters are calm and peaceful. They are not trying to escape reality through alcohol or other drugs. This is the easy way out but is neither honorable nor satisfactory.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Pulled Big Deal With Tammany In 1958

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK—When Acy Lennon, assistant to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem, went to the Federal Penitentiary in Danbury for tax evasion, he weighed 325 pounds. When he came out of Danbury in the fall of 1958 he weighed only 250 pounds. His clothes didn't fit.

So during a visit to Carmine DeSapio, boss of Tammany Hall, Acy was handed $1,000 by DeSapio to buy some new clothes. The two also talked politics, especially the question of whether the handsome Harlem Congressman who had battled the Democrats for Eisenhower and Nixon would return to the fold and support Gov. Averell Harriman in his hot race against Nelson Rockefeller.

The election looked very close and the Negro vote was needed. So after considerable conversation, Acy reported back to Congressman Powell that Tammany would pay him $100,000—$50,000 down and $100 a week over a 10-year period—if he would support Harriman against Rockefeller.

In addition Acy Lennon was to receive $5,000 from Adam for negotiating the deal, plus a promised $5,000 from Carmine at the rate of $100 a week.

Democrats Are More Generous

This offer was more generous than that which the Republicans had worked out with Congressman Powell during Ike's 1956 re-election campaign when Powell stood on the steps of the White House after visiting Ike and urged Negro voters to support Eisenhower and Nixon. At that time he received $50,000 for expenses, plus various fringe benefits, the aid of an attorney, and a promise that the Attorney General would be asked to call off the grand jury probing his income tax case.

However, earlier in the 1958 New York election year, Congressman Powell had made a commitment to the Republican leader of Harlem, Harold Burton, that he would run for Congress on the Republican ticket. Powell made this commitment at a time when Tammany was determined to punish and defeat him for switching to Ike in 1956.

So Powell took out political insurance against possible defeat in the Democratic preliminaries by signing up also as a Republican.

Tom Curran, Republican county leader, didn't like this at all. He warned Burton, that he would be doublecrossed, that Powell would not run as a Republican and thereby lose his Congressional seniority in Washington.

"But Powell is a man of God," replied Burton, referring to the Congressman's weekly sermons at the Abyssinian Baptist Church, largest in the world. "He can be depended on to keep his word."

Later however, when word leaked back to Republican circles that Powell might be flirting with Tammany, they began to get jittery. Burton sent for Fred Weaver, a Powell aide, and both of them went to see Charlie Willis, former assistant to Sherman Adams and a top Republican money-raiser. All were anxious to keep Powell on the GOP side in the red hot race between Harriman and Rockefeller.

"Don't Trust God"

So word was sent to the Congressman, then relaxing in

Puerto Rico, that $50,000 was available in cash if he, Powell, would endorse the Republican ticket.

"I don't trust Willis," the Congressman replied. "He told me earlier that he would give me $50,000 to help in my primary and my legal expenses, and when I sent Bill Hampton down to pick it up, Willis said 'Adam has just attacked Eisenhower in The New York Times, so the deal is off. I have nothing for him.'"

"You tell Willis," Powell continued, "that the price is going to be higher this time, and this time I want the money paid in front."

Powell went on to explain that if he ran as a Republican he would be finished politically and would need more than $50,000 for future financial security. He said he might have to be made vice president of some public relations firm at a salary of about $50,000 a year for ten years.

All this took place before Carmine DeSapio came up with his offer of $100,000 through Powell's convicted assistant, Acy Lennon. Finally Powell accepted it. But first he exacted some fringe benefits. One of the fringe benefits consisted of a pledge that Gov. Harriman would urge Speaker Sam Rayburn to see that Powell became chairman of an important subcommittee in Washington. He also exacted the promise of several jobs for his associates and some federal housing for one of his secretaries' real estate ventures.

It was then agreed that Adam would obtain interviews with Rockefeller, Harriman, and other candidates, weigh their positions on civil rights, and, after careful deliberation, announce for Harriman. No mention was to be made of any of the financial factors that influenced the decision.

Thus the stage was set for the next big political reversal in the life of Adam Clayton Powell.

The Carmel Compact

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

In semi-secrecy, at an inn in Carmel last week, the California Democratic leaders held a meeting that perhaps decided the outcome of the passionate contest for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

The hard bargaining at the meeting, which lasted almost two days, produced what may be called the Carmel Compact. As expected, the whole of California's giant delegation will give first ballot support to the favorite son candidacy of California Gov. Pat Brown. Nonetheless, the compact's most notable feature is the large number of supporters of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, and the even larger number of Kennedy sympathizers, in the proposed slate of one hundred sixty-two California delegates with eighty-one convention votes.

Two powerful pressures appear to have contributed to this result. On the one hand, just before the Carmel meeting, Sen. Kennedy's demon poller, the able professional Louis Harris, descended on California for one last test of statewide Democratic sentiment.

The exact results of the final Harris poll of California are not known. But it can be said with some confidence that they did not differ materially from the results of a whole series of other polls recently made in California. In other words, the Harris test showed Kennedy easily able to beat Gov. Brown in a contested primary, and far ahead of other Democratic contenders as well.

Almost at the moment when Harris began industriously ringing doorbells, Democratic caucuses were also held in the California Congressional districts. Each district caucus chose ten local names for consideration as delegates. The choices made at these caucuses were so unfavorable to Kennedy that Lawrence O'Brien, the chief of the Kennedy organization's political field force, at once flew to California.

The original purpose of O'Brien's journey was to lay the groundwork for entering Kennedy in the California primary, in accordance with the Harris findings. A nominating committee has to file its intentions on or before March ninth. The full slate of delegates would have had to be filed within a month thereafter. Hence O'Brien did not have much time to waste.

All the same, instead of organizing a Kennedy nominating committee, O'Brien ended at another inn a few miles from the scene of the Carmel Compact. One suspects that he went there in response to the anguished pleas of Sen. Kennedy's friends in the California Democratic leadership. State Chairman William Mannell and a good many others were warmly friendly to the Kennedy candidacy. Yet they wanted nothing less than a bitterly fought state primary, which would have torn to pieces the newly-reconstructed California Democratic organization.

It seems clear, too, that the outlines of the Carmel Compact were much influenced by the somewhat ominous neighboring presence of O'Brien with all its implications of a possible plunge by Sen. Kennedy into the California primary. At any rate, with the possible exception of Adlai Stevenson, who had strong

California support, none of the other Democratic contenders could take much comfort from the list of men and women who were to get half a delegate vote apiece under the Carmel Compact.

Meanwhile, at least one-third of the people on the list are thought to be reliable Kennedy supporters. And at least another third are thought to be in the group that can be pretty well counted upon to plump for Kennedy on the second ballot, or even to change their votes at the end of the first ballot, if the Massachusetts Senator has done well in Wisconsin and the other pre-convention primaries.

The tentative delegate slate agreed on at Carmel was minutely studied by the Kennedy field workers. Their study confirmed the analysis given just above, and Kennedy decided to let more than well enough alone. It would have been different if a name-by-name scrutiny had shown that much less than two-thirds of California could be counted on to go for Kennedy on the second ballot, despite proof of Kennedy's voter appeal in other primaries. In that event, Kennedy would have filed in California.

Kennedy would have filed anyway, in the hope of getting the whole loaf instead of two-thirds of a loaf, if he were not confronted with a united California leadership. The participants in the Carmel Compact included Fred Dutton representing Gov. Brown; chiefs of the state organization like Paul Ziffren and Roger Kent; leaders of the legislature and assembly and selected California Democratic members of Congress. Those who favored Kennedy were as anxious as those who opposed him to have him stay out of the state.

The leaders of all factions agreed, on the basis of giving every faction "a fair shake," as one of them put it. No one was left in a position to play king-maker, as is indicated by the fact that Gov. Brown reportedly has only eight state officials on the long delegate list.

These are the facts behind Sen. Kennedy's firm decision to stay out of California. This bargain among the California Democratic leaders and the Kennedy camp's reaction to it could be a major event. Most of California going to Kennedy on the second ballot could be decisive, in fact.

"A performance of this kind deprives the Supreme Court of the intellectual respect it needs now more than it ever did, in these demanding times."

Who says this? Does it come from one of the critics who has been lamenting the decisions of the Supreme Court on states' rights, Communism, the Fifth Amendment and so on? Is it a pronouncement by a committee of the American Bar Association or of the Conference of State Supreme Court Justices? Or is it an exclamation by some of the many lawyers and judges who have come to the conclusion that the Supreme Court has usurped legislative functions?

Not at all. The criticism quoted above was made this week in an editorial in The New York "Times" which for a long time has been one of the foremost defenders of Supreme Court rulings.

It so happens that the Court is right in this week's decision and doesn't deserve the blame being heaped on it by those who don't like the ruling. But the importance of the criticism is that it clears the air. It asserts, in effect, that adverse comment on the Supreme Court is not sinful. For, despite the impression that so many mistaken defenders of the Court's legislative rulings have sought to convey in the past, criticism of a court decision is not an "undermining of the institution"—the phrase so often applied to the Court's critics in recent years even by high officials here.

Nobody who is at all familiar with our judicial system really wants to abolish the Supreme Court of the United States as the institution which must decide cases in the jurisdiction specifically prescribed by the laws of Congress and by the provisions of the Constitution. But every critic feels he has a right to point out faulty reasoning of the justices.

The case which aroused the criticism of The New York "Times" concerned two employees of the state of California who were dismissed under an ordinance which says they must be fired if they decline to testify before a Congressional committee concerning subversion. They had invoked the Fifth Amendment and thereby refused to tell about alleged subversive affiliations.

In another instance involving New York state laws, known as the Slochower case, the Supreme Court of the United States had ruled in 1956 that state employees could not be dismissed under a law that said that such employees who invoked the Fifth Amendment would lose their jobs. The "Times" said in its editorial:

"Instead of specifying that employees who refuse to testify at hearings because of possible self-incrimination must be dismissed, the California law requires dismissal of any persons who decline to testify for any reason."

"This distinction without a difference was seized upon by the majority to distinguish Monday's decision from the Slochower case. But for all practical purposes, the latter must now be regarded as a dead letter. If a state or city is wise enough to avoid putting

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK—When Acy Lennon, assistant to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem, went to the Federal Penitentiary in Danbury for tax evasion, he weighed 325 pounds. When he came out of Danbury in the fall of 1958 he weighed only 250 pounds. His clothes didn't fit.

So during a visit to Carmine DeSapio, boss of Tammany Hall, Acy was handed $1,000 by DeSapio to buy some new clothes. The two also talked politics, especially the question of whether the handsome Harlem Congressman who had bolted the Democrats for Eisenhower and Nixon would return to the fold and support Gov. Averell Harriman in his hot race against Nelson Rockefeller.

The election looked very close and the Negro vote was needed. So after considerable conversation, Acy reported back to Congressman Powell that Tammany would pay him $100,000—$50,000 down and $100 a week over a 10-year period—if he would support Harriman against Rockefeller.

In addition Acy Lennon was to receive $5,000 from Adam for negotiating the deal, plus a promised $5,000 from Carmine at the rate of $100 a week.

Democrats Are More Generous

This offer was more generous than that which the Republicans had worked out with Congressman Powell during Ike's 1956 reelection campaign when Powell stood on the steps of the White House after visiting Ike and urged Negro voters to support Eisenhower and Nixon. At that time he received $50,000 for expenses, plus various fringe benefits, the aid of an attorney, and a promise that the Attorney General would be asked to call off the grand jury probing his income tax case.

However, earlier in the 1958 New York election year, Congressman Powell had made a commitment to the Republican leader of Harlem, Harold Burton, that he would run for Congress on the Republican ticket. Powell made this commitment at a time when Tammany was determined to punish and defeat him for switching to Ike in 1956.

So Powell took out political insurance against possible defeat in the Democratic preliminaries by signing up also as a Republican.

Tom Curran, Republican county leader, didn't like this at all. He warned Burton that he would be doublecrossed, that Powell would not run as a Republican and thereby lose his Congressional seniority in Washington.

"But Powell is a man of God," replied Burton, referring to the Congressman's weekly sermons at the Abyssinian Baptist Church, largest in the world. "He can be depended on to keep his word."

Later however, when word leaked back to Republican circles that Powell might be flirting with Tammany, they began to get jittery. Burton sent for Fred Weaver, a Powell aide, and both of them went to see Charlie Willis, former assistant to Sherman Adams and a top Republican money-raiser. All were anxious to keep Powell on the GOP side in the red hot race between Harriman and Rockefeller.

"Don't Trust GOP"

So word was sent to the Congressman, then relaxing in

Puerto Rico, that $50,000 was available in cash if he, Powell, would endorse the Republican ticket.

"I don't trust Willis," the Congressman replied. "He told me earlier that he would give me $50,000 to help in my primary and my legal expenses, and when I sent Bill Hampton down to pick it up, Willis said 'Adam has just attacked Eisenhower in The New York Times, so the deal is off. I have nothing for him.'"

"You tell Willis," Powell continued, "that the price is going to be higher this time, and this time I want the money paid in front." Powell went on to explain that if he ran as a Republican he would be finished politically and would need more than $50,000 for future financial security. He said he might have to be made vice president of some public relations firm at a salary of about $50,000 a year for ten years.

All this took place before Carmine DeSapio came up with his offer of $100,000 through Powell's convicted assistant, Acy Lennon. Finally Powell accepted it. But first he exacted some fringe benefits. One of the fringe benefits consisted of a pledge that Gov. Harriman would urge Speaker Sam Rayburn to see that Powell became chairman of an important subcommittee in Washington. He also exacted the promise of several jobs for his associates and some federal housing for one of his secretaries' real estate ventures.

It was then agreed that Adam would obtain interviews with Rockefeller, Harriman, and other candidates, weigh their positions on civil rights, and, after careful deliberation, announce for Harriman. No mention was to be made of any of the financial factors that influenced the decision.

Thus the stage was set for the next big political reversal in the life of Adam Clayton Powell.

The Carmel Compact

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

In semi-secrecy, at an inn in Carmel last week, the California Democratic leaders held a meeting that perhaps decided the outcome of the passionate contest for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

The hard bargaining at the meeting, which lasted almost two days, produced what may be called the Carmel Compact. As expected, the whole of California's giant delegation will give first ballot support to the favorite son candidacy of California Gov. Pat Brown. Nonetheless, the compact's most notable feature is the large number of supporters of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, and the even larger number of Kennedy sympathizers, in the proposed slate of one hundred sixty-two California delegates with eighty-one convention votes.

Two powerful pressures appear to have contributed to this result. On the one hand, just before the Carmel meeting, Sen. Kennedy's demon poller, the able professional Louis Harris, descended on California for one last test of statewide Democratic sentiment.

The exact results of the final Harris poll of California are not known. But it can be said with some confidence that they did not differ materially from the results of a whole series of other polls recently made in California. In other words, the Harris test showed Kennedy easily able to beat Gov. Brown in a contested primary, and far ahead of other Democratic contenders as well.

Almost at the moment when Harris began industriously ringing doorbells, Democratic caucuses were also held in the California Congressional districts. Each district caucus chose ten local names for consideration as delegates. The choices made at these caucuses were so unfavorable to Kennedy that Lawrence O'Brien, the chief of the Kennedy organization's political field force, at once flew to California.

The original purpose of O'Brien's journey was to lay the groundwork for entering Kennedy in the California primary, in accordance with the Harris findings. A nominating committee has to file its intentions on or before March ninth. The full slate of delegates would have had to be filed within a month thereafter. Hence O'Brien did not have much time to waste.

All the same, instead of organizing a Kennedy nominating committee, O'Brien ended at another inn a few miles from the scene of the Carmel Compact. One suspects that he went there in response to the anguished pleas of Sen. Kennedy's friends in the California Democratic leadership. State Chairman William Mannell and a good many others were warmly friendly to the Kennedy candidacy. Yet they wanted nothing less than a bitterly fought state primary, which would have torn to pieces the newly-reconstructed California Democratic organization.

It seems clear, too, that the outlines of the Carmel Compact were much influenced by the somewhat ominous neighboring presence of O'Brien with all its implications of a possible plunge by Sen. Kennedy into the California primary. At any rate, with the possible exception of Adlai Stevenson, who had strong

California support, none of the other Democratic contenders could take much comfort from the list of men and women who were to get half a delegate vote apiece under the Carmel Compact.

Meanwhile, at least one-third of the people on the list are thought to be reliable Kennedy supporters. And at least another third are thought to be in the group that can be pretty well counted upon to plump for Kennedy on the second ballot, or even to change their votes at the end of the first ballot, if the Massachusetts Senator has done well in Wisconsin and the other pre-convention primaries.

The tentative delegate slate agreed on at Carmel was minutely studied by the Kennedy field workers. Their study confirmed the analysis given just above, and Kennedy decided to let more than well enough alone. It would have been different if a name-by-name scrutiny had shown that much less than two-thirds of California could be counted on to go for Kennedy on the second ballot, despite proof of Kennedy's voter appeal in other primaries. In that event, Kennedy would have filed in California.

Kennedy would have filed anyway, in the hope of getting the whole loaf instead of two-thirds of a loaf, if he were not confronted with a united California leadership. The participants in the Carmel Compact included Fred Dutton representing Gov. Brown; chiefs of the state organization like Paul Ziffren and Roger Kent; leaders of the legislature and assembly and selected California Democratic members of Congress. Those who favored Kennedy were as anxious as those who opposed him to have him stay out of the state.

The leaders of all factions agreed, on the basis of giving every faction "a fair shake," as one of them put it. No one was left in a position to play king-maker, as is indicated by the fact that Gov. Brown reportedly has only eight state officials on the long delegate list.

These are the facts behind Sen. Kennedy's firm decision to stay out of California. This bargain among the California Democratic leaders and the Kennedy camp's reaction to it could be a major event. Most of California going to Kennedy on the second ballot could be decisive, in fact.

Time Won't Stop, But Aging Can Be Delayed

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Time can't be stopped but men and women in their fifties and sixties can delay the aging process by retaining their enthusiasm and zest for life. Apathy as well as disease accelerates deterioration. Now is the time to take stock, especially if you are not feeling up to par and are becoming sloppy in appearance, shiftless, round shouldered, or peepless.

Start the rebuilding program

with a physical checkup. Illness, by reducing life expectancy, prevents many older persons from enjoying the final period of life. Correct minor defects that may lead to a crippling disturbance. Treating high blood pressure at its inception in the early fifties, for example, spares the heart and blood vessels from permanent damage.

Correcting anemia and improving the diet by adding more proteins, vitamins, and minerals may be rejuvenating. Stand tall and pull back the shoulders. This permits the heart and lungs to function properly and prevents the abdominal organs from being crowded. A little exercise and more roughage will help elimination.

Meanwhile, "get help" and find some justification for living, if you think you are too old for this world. Participate in something and stop thinking and talking old. Withdrawing from social contacts leads to a vegetative, unhappy existence.

I'm not implying that all retired persons are unhappy. Even though they are consumers rather than producers, those who are spry and keen of mind are actively engaged in hobbies or improving their mind and body. They are not sitting in the rocking chair waiting for the end.

These busy oldsters are calm and peaceful. They are not trying to escape reality through alcohol or other drugs. This is the easy way out but is neither honorable nor satisfactory.

Rolf Peterson, the life of every party in Salt Lake City — in fact, in all Utah — is in cahoots with a writer of an advice-to-the-lovelorn column named Pamela Cardiac. Here's a letter, adds Rolf, Pamela received:

"Dear Pamela: Ever since my husband saw a movie called Moby Dick, he has been driving me to distraction. The movie impressed him so deeply that he went right out and bought a harpoon. He waves it around all the time hollering, 'Thar she blows!' The other night while I was watching TV he let go of the harpoon and knocked out our picture tube. I'm afraid he'll harpoon me next. What can I do? (Signed) Landlubber."

Pamela answered: "Dear Landlubber: Here's how you can help. Some night when he's sound asleep, holler 'Thar she blows!' in his ear, rock the bed violently and empty a bucket of cold water

French Soldier Nears Figure Skating Title

Giletti Is Leader, Canadian Is Second

By JACK HEWINS
VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — A young French soldier held the hopes of Europe Friday for its first men's world figure skating championship in 13 years.

Alain Giletti, 20, took a lead that seemingly assured him the crown vacated by Dave Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo.

After the field of 17 men from nine nations had skated their six compulsory figures, Giletti's point total was 709.9 and he had 7.0 ordinis, which meant top ranking by all judges.

Canada's hope, 19-year-old Donald Jackson, was in second place with 676.9 points and 20.5 ordinis. Jackson also trailed Giletti in the Olympic Games but overcame an 11-point lead with a brilliant free skating program to take third place. Here he trails by 33 and the free skating, scheduled for Saturday night, counts only 40 per cent toward the total score.

Another Frenchman, Alain Calmat, moved into third place by a narrow margin over Austria's Norbert Felsinger.

The two entrants from the United States were pushing the leaders.

Bradley Lord was rated sixth and 15-year-old Gregory Kelley climbed from 14th to ninth in the two days of figures. Both are from Boston.

Arnold Palmer Is Baton Rouge Tourney Leader

Ligonier Pro's 142 Passes George Bayer

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., penalized himself Friday but took the lead in the second round of the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament with a one-under-par 71 for a 142 total.

Palmer was two strokes in front of George Bayer of Glenview, Ill., Thursday's leader and four others with 36-hole totals of 144.

Palmer called a penalty stroke on himself on the third hole. The ball had landed in the leaves on the 6,700-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course. When he moved some of the leaves, he said the ball moved, although none of the other players said they saw the ball change.

Tied with Bayer were Bob Goaly of Crystal River, Fla., Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La., Biff Blanton of San Diego, Calif., and Jack Doss, Minneapolis, Minn.

Ramos Threatens To Return To Cuba If Salary Is Cut

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Pitcher Pedro Ramos arrived at the Washington Senators training camp Friday and threatened to go right back to his native Cuba unless club President Calvin Griffith rents in his plan to cut Ramos' salary from an estimated $16,000 of last year.

"We aren't close," both Ramos and Griffith said. Griffith admitted he had offered the 24-year-old right-hander a pay slice.

"He won 13 games but he lost 19," said the Senators' boss, "and those were more defeats than anybody else had in the American League."

"I lost so many because I pitched so much," Ramos ranted. "I just bought a cigar factory in Pinar del Rio where I live. I might go back if Mr. Griffith and I don't get together soon," said Ramos.

Another arrival was 17-game winner Camilo Pascual, who signed his 1960 contract as soon as the 39 season ended.

LaSalle Wins Final, Beats Hornets, 74-58

Scaletta Gets 27, Sets City Record

LaSalle High School's Explorers wound up their 1959-60 basketball campaign with a 74-58 victory over Hyndman High School's Hornets last night on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Mickey Scaletta dumped 27 points into the nets to up his season's total to 520, an all-time high scoring mark for a Cumberland player. The old record of 495 points was held by Tommy Smith of Carver High and was set in 1955.

Scaletta paced the city scorers this season with 199 field goals and 122-184 fouls in 24 games for a 21.7 average. Mickey was presented the ball as a gift after he scored a field goal that gave him a season point total of 496 1-18 after the game had gotten under way.

The victory gave Coach George Geatz's Explorers a record of 22-2 for the season.

Mike Long took runner-up honors in scoring with 26 markers. Vohn Lehman's 22 was high for Hyndman as the Hornets concluded their regular schedule with a 10-11 mark. The Pennsylvanians dropped the series to LaSalle, losing the first game, 78-60.

Mike Firlie and Carroll Wilt of LaSalle and Jim Arnold and Richard Miller of Hyndman exited on fouls.

Tornado Defeats Panthers, 65-58; Finals Set Today

By TED TROXELL

Heavily favored Romney overpowered Petersburg, 85-51, and Keyser stopped Charles Town, 65-58, in the semi-finals of the West Virginia Section 7 AA basketball tournament last night at the Potomac State College gymnasium in Keyser.

Last night's doubleheader filled practically every seat in the Potomac State gym, and tonight's championship contest at 9 o'clock should draw an even larger turnout. During the regular season, Romney (22-0) downed Keyser twice, 78-57 and 65-53. The title will be preceded by a consolation game at 7:15 between Petersburg and Charles Town.

"Bombin' Bill" Maphis, Romney's talented forward who has shattered all sorts of area scoring marks, cut loose for 35 points last night in leading the high-powered Pioneers to their easy triumph.

Maphis slammed in 16 field goals in only 26 attempts and converted three free throws in with as many chances before retiring.

T. with about six minutes left to play, as Coach Clyde Green cleared the bench shortly after the fourth quarter started.

The Pioneers got off to a fast start, leading by a 28-12 margin after the first eight minutes. The taller Romney cagers completely dominated the backboard play, and outshot their outclassed opponents, 36-84 to 22-65.

Proving to the fans that he can score from outside as well as in close, Maphis picked up many of his points on jump shots from 15 to 20 feet away, while also guiding in his teammates' errant shots on tip-ins. Maphis scored 12 points in each of the first and third quarters, and tallied 11 in the second period.

Dave Kirk, with 15 points, was the only other Romney player in double figures, while Ernie Nelson, Petersburg pivotman, collected 20 tallies for the losing Vikings.

Nightcap Close

The nightcap, in contrast to the first game, was closely contested all the way. A driving layup by Robert Shaw, peppery Keyser guard, gave the Golden Tornado a 15-14 lead with six seconds to go in the first period.

Up to this point, Charles Town had led all the way in the opening stanza. Once the Panthers regained the upper hand, they never relinquished it.

Keyser's lead all evening, trailing by only three, 57-54, about midway in the final frame before a late spurt by the Tornado salted the decision.

Versatile Gary Keedy, an All-State quarterback this past football season, scored 27 points and spark-plugged the Keyser defeats.

Lucas, Jackson Named On AP All-America

Robertson, West, Inhoff Selected

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A new college basketball star will emerge next season in the wake of the graduation of Oscar Robertson and Jerry West. And the selection of the 1960 collegiate basketball All-America by The Associated Press Friday indicates the successor to the "Big O" and the "Cabin Creek Comet" will be Jerry Lucas of Ohio State.

Robertson, 6-foot-5 of Cincinnati, and West, 6-foot-3 of West Virginia, were far ahead in the voting by 329 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation. Their skill and finesse is well known and it was no surprise that they repeated from 1959. In fact, this is the third straight year Robertson made the All-America.

Lucas, 6-foot-8 sophomore who sparked Ohio State to its first Big Ten title in more than a decade, polled 253 first place votes to 311 for Robertson and 304 for West. This showing points to him as next year's individual standout.

Darrell Inhoff, the 6-foot-10 senior who led California to its first NCAA title in 1959 and who will help defend the crown in this year's tourney, also was named on the first team along with Tony Jackson, junior star of the defending National Invitation champs, St. John's of New York.

Inhoff, polled 234 first place votes, but the 6-foot-4 Jackson, barely named the first team nod with 61 to 58 for Tom St. Bonaventure.

Big Ten To Stay Out Of Post-Season Athletic Events

Rose Bowl Grid Game Voted Out

Withdrawal Comes As Big Surprise At Columbus Meeting

by BOB GRIMM

United Press International
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The Big Ten voted Friday to stay out of all post-season athletic events, including the Rose Bowl and NCAA-sponsored national championship tournaments.

The vote to stay out of all post-season competition came only a few hours after Big Ten faculty representatives killed all connections with the Rose Bowl football game in a 5-5 vote. A majority was needed for approval.

The action tossed a bombshell in the Big Ten's winter meeting of athletic directors and faculty representatives here. The Rose Bowl vote was expected, but withdrawal from all post-season athletic events was a surprise.

Only One Exception

The new post-season rule, which includes the NCAA basketball tournament, track meet, baseball and swimming, is subject to approval to member faculties and probably will become effective next September.

The only exception was for try-outs on Olympic teams.

The athletic directors made the proposal to cold-shoulder all post-season competition. Faculty representatives approved it in the closed-door session with at least a 6-4 majority.

It was believed the athletic directors, miffed because they could not send their football teams to the Rose Bowl, felt the Big Ten should not send teams to any post-season event. The faculty representatives, who were split on the Rose Bowl issue and feeling they had been losing control of athletics to the athletic directors went along.

Disrupted School

One of the objections voiced by opponents of participating in the Rose Bowl was that they felt the January 1 game disrupted school activities by extending the season another six weeks.

The faculty representatives also killed by a 6-4 margin a rule clause that would have enabled Big Ten schools to accept Rose Bowl invitations on their own without a vote of the conference.

Bill Reed, conference publicity director, said the vote to stay out of post-season competition was not unanimous, but it required a majority vote.

Toledo Is ABC Site 6th Time

30,000 Keglers, 5,716 Teams Vie

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—The 57th annual American Bowling Congress tournament gets underway here Saturday night when the first of more than 30,000 keglers take to the lanes.

This year's edition is the 10th largest in the history of the tournament. It also marked the sixth time that it has been held here, tying Toledo with Chicago and Buffalo, N.Y.

Thirty-six lanes were constructed in the Toledo Sports Arena by a small army of electricians, carpenters, mechanics and other workmen. The entire installation cost $350,000 to prepare for the tournament.

Of the 30,000 persons expected to roll in the tournament, 5,716 team entries have been made. The booster team division will start the preliminary rolling on Saturday morning with the Owens Illinois team of Toledo the first to take to the lanes.

Mrs. Maurice Glick Bows In Semi-Final

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI)—Barbara McIntire and Judy Bell—two of the nation's top women amateur golfers—won semifinal matches Friday and will meet in the 19-hole finals of the 32nd annual Florida East Coast championships tournament.

Miss McIntire, 1959 National Amateur champion, defeated veteran Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md., 4 and 2 despite a lament that "I'm not driving very well."

Miss Bell, pretty 22-year-old links artist from Wichita, Kan., two-puttied for a par three on the 16th hole to close out medalist Phyllis (Tish) Pruess, Pompano Beach, Fla., 3 and 2. She was only two over men's par when the contest ended.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Juan Pizarro, 23-year-old fire-balling southpaw, signed his 1960 contract with the Milwaukee Braves Friday.

The signing of the Puerto Rican southpaw reduced the number of unsigned Braves to six. They are Lew Burdette, Johnny Logan, Wes Covington, Joe Adcock, Don McMahon and Bobby Avila.

Washington's Tailenders Improved But Hardly Enough

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series on the major league teams.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ORLANDO, Fla. — First to open the American League season and last in the league for the last three seasons, the Washington Senators stood still in winter-time trades but are moving along well at refurbished Tinker Field here, hopeful of moving up the ladder of American League success.

With two of the best pitchers in the league in Camilo Pascual (the Cincinnati Reds offered $500,000 for him) and Pedro Ramos, a homer-hitting trio in Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison and Roy Sievers, and some left-handed throwers for a change, the Capital Crew should be better, but away from this camp you can't get anyone to say so.

President Calvin Griffith, who joins his players on the rubbing table here with a leg ailment, and the third-year manager, Cookie Lavagetto, one-time Dodger infield great, both are optimistic although help has to come in the infield, which was the deterring factor last year.

Both Griffith and Lavagetto echo the camp feeling when they say, almost in unison:

"We're going to have a better ball club. We have more experience and we believe we have come up with the knowhow to play in this league."

"Our problems are catching, second and short. We're going along with Steve Korchbeck behind the plate for his real ability, can throw well and it's only a question of his hitting."

"We have a problem at second and short. We have six men we're going to give a shot at for second, with Billy Consolo the top man, and we only hope he or someone else who beats him out can hit better than .213. (Consolo's average as a shortstop last year.)"

Count On Zorro

"We counting on Zorro (Zolito Versalles) to be our shortstop and he's a real glove man. He's young, only just turned 19, but he can make the plays. If we feel he can't do it, we will have to find somebody to do it."

Griffith admits that he has talked with several clubs—everybody would like to have either of his two ace pitchers—but says that "we're just going to sit still until we see what we have here."

In the second-base picture besides Consolo, whom Cookie feels can do the job, are John Schaive, who spent most of last year with Chattanooga; Ken Aspromonte, the light-hitting Ron Samford and Reno Bertoia. Samford had his tonsils out during the winter and that may help.

Griffith and Lavagetto feel that their pitching staff goes beyond the two stars, Pascual and Ramos. One of the big problems in camp is Dick Hyde, who was the league's relief star in 1958 and had only a 2-5 record last year.

Southpaw help may have been added with Jim Kaat, who was 8-8 with Chattanooga last season and two years ago led the minors in strikeouts; John Kralick, another Chattanooga thrower; Don Lee, who was 14-9 with Charleston; and once was with the Tigers; Ralph Lumenti, 12-8 with Charlotte and a hurler who could be a great one if he had control, and Hal Woodeshick, who runs hot and cold.

Have Gophers' Greatest

Still away but showing great promise is the $30,000 bonus beauty, Fred Bruckbauer, who was 12-5 with Fox Cities last year and was signed off the University of Minnesota campus as "the greatest pitcher" in Gopher baseball history. Fred is 21 and a right-hander.

If Roy Sievers, the all-time capital home run king who came last year with injuries, can come back the Senators will carry a real solid batting crew.

Among outfielders who are given the "ready" sign is Dan Dobek, who blasted 23 homers for Chattanooga and may win one of the three outfield spots.

Twelve Washington players were still unsigned at this writing, including Bob Allison, the "rookie of the year" in the A. L. last season.

CAPSULE COMMENT

Big Ten To Stay Out of All Post-Season Athletic Events

Rose Bowl Grid Game Voted Out

Withdrawal Comes As Big Surprise At Columbus Meeting

by BOB GRIMM
United Press International
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The Big Ten voted Friday to stay out of all post-season athletic events, including the Rose Bowl and NCAA-sponsored national championship tournaments.

The vote to stay out of all post-season competition came only a few hours after Big Ten faculty representatives killed all connections with the Rose Bowl football game in a 5-5 vote. A majority was needed for approval.

The action tossed a bombshell in the Big Ten's winter meeting of athletic directors and faculty representatives here. The Rose Bowl vote was expected, but withdrawal from all post-season athletic events was a surprise.

Only One Exception
The new post-season rule, which includes the NCAA basketball tournament, track meet, baseball and swimming, is subject to approval to member faculties and probably will become effective next September.

The only exception was for try-outs on Olympic teams. The athletic directors made the proposal to cold-shoulder all post-season competition. Faculty representatives approved it in the closed-door session with at least a 6-4 majority.

It was believed the athletic directors, miffed because they could not send their football teams to the Rose Bowl, felt the Big Ten should not send teams to any post-season event. The faculty representatives, who were split on the Rose Bowl issue and feeling they had been losing control of athletics to the athletic directors went along.

Disrupted School
One of the objections voiced by opponents of participating in the Rose Bowl was that they felt the January 1 game disrupted school activities by extending the season another six weeks.

The faculty representatives also killed by a 6-4 margin a rule clause that would have enabled Big Ten schools to accept Rose Bowl invitations on their own without a vote of the conference.

Bill Reed, conference publicity director, said the vote to stay out of post-season competition was not unanimous, but it required a majority vote.

Toledo Is ABC Site 6th Time

30,000 Keglers, 5,716 Teams Vie
TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—The 57th annual American Bowling Congress tournament gets under way here Saturday night when the first of more than 30,000 keglers take to the lanes.

This year's edition is the 10th largest in the history of the tournament. It also marked the sixth time that it has been held here, tying Toledo with Chicago and Buffalo, N.Y.

Thirty-six lanes were constructed in the Toledo Sports Arena by a small army of electricians, carpenters, mechanics and other workmen. The entire installation cost $350,000 to prepare for the tournament.

Of the 30,000 persons expected to roll in the tournament, 5,716 team entries have been made. The booster team division will start the preliminary rolling on Saturday morning with the Owens Illinois team of Toledo the first to take to the lanes.

Mrs. Maurice Glick Bows In Semi-Final

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI)—Barbara McIntire and Judy Bell—two of the nation's top women amateur golfers—won semifinal matches Friday and will meet in the 18-hole finals of the 32nd annual Florida East Coast championships tournament.

Miss McIntire, 1959 National Amateur champion, defeated veteran Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md., 4 and 2 despite a lament that "I'm not driving very well."

Miss Bell, pretty 22-year-old darts artist from Wichita, Kan., two-potted for a par three on the 16th hole to close out medalist Phyllis (Tish) Pruess, Pompano Beach, Fla., 3 and 2. She was only two over men's par when the contest ended.

Juan Pizarro Signs
BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Juan Pizarro, 23-year-old fire-balling southpaw, signed his 1960 contract with the Milwaukee Braves Friday.

The signing of the Puerto Rican southpaw reduced the number of unsigned Braves to six. They are Lew Burdette, Johnny Logan, Wes Covington, Joe Adcock, Don Mc Mahon and Bobby Avila.

HEADS P.V.C.—Eldon E. Shipman, principal of the West Virginia School for the Deaf, is the new president of the Potomac Valley Conference. A native of Fulton, Mo., Mr. Shipman was teacher at the Romney school during the terms of 1952-53 and 1953-54, then moved to Jackson, as principal of the Mississippi School for the Deaf. Four years ago he returned to Romney as principal, succeeding Paul Bird, who moved to Florida. There are 18 schools in the P.V.C.

Santa Anita Derby Draws Ten Starters

Tompson, Flow Line Made Co-Favorites

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Kentucky against California—that's the way the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby Saturday shapes up with Flow Line representing the land of oranges and Tompion from the home of blue grass and mint juleps.

There are eight others in addition to Tompion and Flow Line in the 1 1/2-mile race that has sent three winners to the Kentucky Derby and others into the Triple Crown.

But favoritism probably will rest either with undefeated although once disqualified Flow Line and Tompion, a royally-bred son of Tom Fool whose national prestige rests chiefly on a win in the Hopeful Stakes last fall.

But if either should falter, there were hard-running colts like Eagle Admiral, T. V. Lark and John William in the race to make a run for first money which will total $84,800 if all 10 start.

Should Flow Line win, he would become the third son of Khaled to capture the Derby. The others were Swaps, perhaps the greatest California-bred colt to win the Santa Anita Derby and then parlay it to a Kentucky Derby win, and Terrang, who climaxed his career last year by also winning the Santa Anita Handicap.

In addition to Swaps, Santa Anita Derby winners which went on to capture the Kentucky Derby were Hill Gail and Determine.

Yanks Sign Ryne Duren

Holdouts Blasted By George Weiss

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Relief pitcher Ryne Duren signed his 1960 contract Friday after General Manager George Weiss blasted the New York Yankee holdouts as "ungrateful and unreasonable."

With Duren signed, four holdouts remain—center fielder Mickey Mantle, infielders Tony Kubek and Andy Carey and outfielder Ken Holt.

"We're not going to get down on our knees and beg Mantle or any other player to take our money," Weiss said. "We're not calling anybody. If they want to talk contract with us, they can come and do it. We're through making overtures."

Duren signed for a reported $16,500, a raise of $1,500. Hunt, also in camp, is expected to sign. There was no word from Mantle, the $75,000-a-year outfielder who is fighting a $15,000 out. He dropped from sight at Dallas, Tex., and could not be reached for comment.

Washington's Tailenders Improved But Hardly Enough

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series on the major league teams.
By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ORLANDO, Fla. — First to open the American League season and last in the league for the last three seasons, the Washington Senators stood still in winter-time trades but are moving along well at refurbished Tinker Field here, hopeful of moving up the ladder of American League success.

With two of the best pitchers in the league in Camilo Pascual (the Cincinnati Reds offered $500,000 for him) and Pedro Ramos, a home-hitting trio in Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison and Roy Sievers, and some left-handed throwers for a change, the Capital Crew should be better, but away from this camp you can't get anyone to say so.

President Calvin Griffith, who joins his players on the rubbing table here with a leg ailment, and the third-year manager, Cookie Lavagetto, one-time Dodger infielder great, both are optimistic although help has to come in the infield, which was the deterring factor last year.

Both Griffith and Lavagetto echo the camp feeling when they say, almost in unison:

"We're going to have a better ball club. We have more experience and we believe we have come up with the knowhow to play in this league."

"Our problems are catching, second and short. We're going along with Steve Korchek behind the plate for his real ability, can throw well and it's only a question of his hitting."

"We have a problem at second and short. We have six men we're going to give a shot at for second, with Billy Consolo the top man, and we only hope he or someone else who beats him out can hit better than 213. (Consolo's average as a shortstop last year.)"

Count On Zorro
"We counting on Zorro (Zolo) Versalles to be our shortstop and he's a real glove man. He's young, only just turned 19, but he can make the plays. If we feel he can't do it, we will have to find somebody to do it."

Jim Kaat, Southpaw Rookie, May Bolster Senator Mound

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ORLANDO, Fla. — A cat has nine lives, they say, but this Kaat—Jim Lee Kaat—hopes he isn't on the way to using up all of them.

A southpaw rookie hopeful in the Washington Senators' camp here, Jim Kaat (pronounced "Kot" but called "Cat" by everyone) has lost three of his nine baseball "lives" by injuries already. Needless to say, he feels that he's about ready to stay whole for awhile and win a place on the Washington staff.

The powers-that-be in camp here will tell you he has a "real good chance" if he can stay away from that injury jinx which began with chips in his ankles, then followed with throwing his shoulder out of whack while swinging at a pitch in the Southern association last year and then undergoing an operation for a cyst on his back which made him virtually useless from August on last year.

Jim's rise to pitching success began when he moved from Superior to Missoula in the Pioneer league in 1958 where he led the league in just about everything, including 243 strikeouts, which was the fifth best in all organized baseball that year.

In 1959, he was leading the Southern association in strikeouts when the Washington team called him up in August. He twirled a couple of innings against the White Sox, had trouble and was found to have the growth on his back.

The operation put him on the shelf until the last day of the season when he pitched against the Red Sox and was belted for six runs in two innings.

Jim says he has recovered completely. He did well in the winter loop, pitching for Earl Torgeson's club in Nicaragua, where he was 3-4.

Kaat is a big freckle-faced 21-year-old standing 6 feet 4 inches tall.

Born at Zeeland, Mich., where he was a three-sport star in high school, Jim went to Hope U. S. Air Force all-star basketball team which will compete in the National AAU Tourney at Denver starting March 20.

Married to a Chattanooga girl last October, Jim plans to continue his education at Hope in the off season.

Temple Plays Dayton In NIT

Clash In First Round March 12

NEW YORK (UPI)—Temple (16-8) was added to the field for the National Invitation Tournament Friday, and complete pairings for the basketball carnival starting at Madison Square Garden next Thursday were announced.

Two spots remain to be filled but these will go to the runner-up team in the Missouri Valley Conference and the runner-up in the Skyline Conference. With these races not quite finished, these two teams figure right now to be Bradley and Utah State.

Temple, led by backcourt sparkplug Bill (Pickles) Kennedy, will be trying to win the NIT for the second time. The Owls from Philadelphia captured the title in the first tourney in 1938, but did not return until 1957 when they finished third.

Four of the 12 teams drew first-round byes and moved automatically into the quarter-finals. These are defending champion St. John's, St. Louis, and the two undecided teams.

Here are the early-round pairings:
THURSDAY NIGHT—Villanova vs. Detroit, Providence vs. Memphis State, first round.
SATURDAY AFTERNOON—St. Bonaventure vs. Holy Cross, first round; Skyline entry vs. Villanova—Detroit winner, quarter-final.

SATURDAY NIGHT—Dayton vs. Temple, first round; St. Louis vs. Providence, Memphis State winner, quarter-final.

Coach Gene Scaletta's St. Patrick's quint will journey to York, Pa., Sunday to play St. Patrick's basketball team of that city.

Clash In First Round March 12

NEW YORK (UPI)—Temple (16-8) was added to the field for the National Invitation Tournament Friday, and complete pairings for the basketball carnival starting at Madison Square Garden next Thursday were announced.

Two spots remain to be filled but these will go to the runner-up team in the Missouri Valley Conference and the runner-up in the Skyline Conference. With these races not quite finished, these two teams figure right now to be Bradley and Utah State.

Temple, led by backcourt sparkplug Bill (Pickles) Kennedy, will be trying to win the NIT for the second time. The Owls from Philadelphia captured the title in the first tourney in 1938, but did not return until 1957 when they finished third.

Four of the 12 teams drew first-round byes and moved automatically into the quarter-finals. These are defending champion St. John's, St. Louis, and the two undecided teams.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I told you I was going to turn over a new leaf last night the next leaf. At first Mom was shocked, time he comes through the front. She thought I was sick, I said door with two or three extra "please" and "thank you" and of people for dinner (surprise, offered to do extra things in the course) I am going out the back house. Within two days every-door I'd never actually do it, thing changed. Mom gave me but how can I get him to give me adult privileges because she me at least on hour's notice? said I was acting more mature.

I'm a fairly good cook, but I'm Teen-agers should realize that no magician. Men just don't see their parents don't enjoy bicker-derstand that extra people mean and arguing any more than extra preparations. More than the kids. If the teens would make once the kids have had to eat a decent effort to improve their peanut butter and jelly sandwich-relationship, the parents would wicks and the guests got to meet them at least half-way.—chops. Please tell me what to do LEARNED LADY about this before I blow my top. DEAR LEARNED: Cheers! At last — a voice from the ranks

DEAR CAUGHT: Tell your husband that either he brings real meaning. Thanks for writ- home (with the guests) some ex- tra steaks or he'll have to settle for whatever there is.

DEAR ANN: A certain attractive woman in our community lost her husband several weeks ago. She had lots of callers at first, but now just a few people drop by. The minister called on her three times the first week, which everyone thought was over- doing it. By chance I noticed his car in front of her home again on Monday afternoon of last week.

I'm not saying anything is wrong, but I DO feel it would be down on the gossip in this town if the minister would take his wife along. Do you agree? — JUST A NEIGHBOR

DEAR JUST: I'm all for cut- ting down on gossip and I guess you start with yourself. It's part of a clergyman's job to give spiritual strength to those who have lost loved ones. Why don't you use that wonderful eyesight of yours to crochet a tablecloth?

DEAR ANN: Please print this letter for teenage girls who are having trouble with their mothers. I'm 14 and have solved one of life's biggest problems.

Mom and I were forever argu- ing. No matter what she said I had a smart come-back. We never agreed on anything.

Then a girl moved to our block from another city. We got along swell from the start. She invited me to her house for the night and that's when my eyes were opened.

This girl and her mother had the loveliest relationship I ever saw. They were polite and con- siderate to each other — not like relatives, but friends. I couldn't help but tell her I thought it was wonderful that she talked so nicely to her mother. She said "Why shouldn't I? My mother has done more for me than anyone in this world."

I decided then and there I

DEAR CAUGHT: Tell your husband that either he brings real meaning. Thanks for writ-home (with the guests) some ex- tra steaks or he'll have to settle for whatever there is.

Maybe after a few attempts at cutting lamb chops in half and dividing eight spears of aspara-gus six ways, he'll learn that you mean business.

For obvious reasons I'm avoid-ing the suggestion that you freeze frozen meat on hand for "emer-gencies."

DEAR ANN: Please print this letter for teen-age girls who are having trouble with their mothers. I'm 14 and have solved one of life's biggest problems.

Mom and I were forever argu-ing. No matter what she said I had a smart come-back. We never agreed on anything.

Then a girl moved to our block from another city. We got along swell from the start. She invited me to her house for the night and that's when my eyes were opened.

This girl and her mother had the loveliest relationship I ever saw. They were polite and con-siderate to each other — not like relatives, but friends. I couldn't help but tell her I thought it was wonderful that she talked so nice-ly to her mother. She said "Why shouldn't I? My mother has done more for me than anyone in this world."

I decided then and there I

Heavy Snowfall Reminder Of Flood Waters In 1936

On March 15, 1936, Cum-berland residents basked in a 74-degree temperature and many were seen downtown in shirt-sleeves and light clothing.

It was warm again March 16 and newspaper accounts of the day said "Cloudy skies indicated rain."

The statement proved prophe-ty. Rain began falling that after-noon.

Before it was over four inches of rain fell atop thawing ice and snow, the Potomac River and Wills Creek became raging tor-rens and on March 17, St. Pat-rick's Day, area towns and down-town Cumberland were under water in what is remembered as the worst disaster ever to hit here.

March 18, it was estimated that damage was $3,000,000 or more, business was paralyzed and the city buried under tons of mud and debris.

Nobody is predicting such a turn of events today but officials admit the potential is there. Heavy snow has fallen west of Cumberland and is still coming down in some areas. A sudden thaw with heavy rain could pose a high water threat to Georges Creek communities and turn the usually docile Potomac River and Wills Creek into raging tor-rens once again.

Officials say, however, that such potential developed in other years since 1936 and nothing has happened. In addition, it would take a rare meteorological occur-rence to bring about sudden thaw-rain conditions.

And as far as Cumberland is concerned, the city is protected by a $20,000,000 flood protection project it did not have in 1936. The project is designed to more than offset the volume of water which ran rampant here 24 years ago.

Nobody can predict a disaster nor will anybody come right out and say what the weather will be a few days from now. But as the saying goes "Spring (March 21) is just around the corner" and high water could occur.

For example, Joe Brewer of the Civil Works Branch of the U. S. Corps of Engineers in Washing-ton, D. C., says that for the local situation to be equal to that of 1936 would require a pretty-intense low pressure system on the east coast. At this time of year, this has been a rare occurrence.

Referring again to the potential, R. E. Weber, official weather ob-server at Oakland, says his re-cords show that on March 16, 1936, open ground in Garrett County was practically bare but there were drifts 20 to 30 feet high. In January and February of that year there were 16 inches of snow on the ground.

Yesterday, snow accumulation on the ground was 25 inches or nine more than in 1936.

Weber said the heavy March rain of 1936 was the cause of high waters. Any recurrence would depend on how the present snow melts away, he said, add-ing that if it rains, the thaw-er could cause high water trouble.

The same situation is general from Oakland east toward Frost-burg.

Cumberland-Ridgeley flood con-trol project is designed to offset any high waters such as occur-red in 1936 but the project to date has not had a real test.

In 1936, the maximum flood of record, discharge in the North Branch of the Potomac was com-puted at 57,000 cubic feet a sec-ond at 11:30 p. m. March 17. Maximum discharge in Wills Creek at 11 p. m. was 38,600 cu-bic feet.

Design flows in the flood pro-tection project are 93,000 cubic feet a second in the North Branch and 50,000 cubic feet in Wills Creek. The top of the concrete flood walls along Wills Creek is de-signed to provide a safety factor of at least six feet above the level of the 1936 flood.

City Engineer Charles R. Nu-zum, local flood project main-tenance superintendent and dis-aster chairman, Monday was au-thorized to advertise for bids for 12,000 sandbags to use in three low spots of the flood wall.

The Corps of Engineers also has a temporary disposal unit or clo-sure for use at such spots in an emergency and an official said the unit could be sent here by truck in a matter of hours if needed.

Benefit Plan Report Cited At Amcelle

Employees at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company re-ceived $699,268.41 in group in-surance benefits during 1959, ac-cording to the annual report issued this week by the plant's Insurance Department.

The report revealed that 3,294 claims were paid, including 1,709 hospital claims for employees and their dependents who are covered under the company's insurance plan. Other benefits included ac-cident and sickness weekly pay-ments, surgical expense cover-age, life, accidental death, and total and permanent disability payments.

Hudson Nix, industrial relations manager, stated that all of the claims were serviced on a local basis by the insurance depart-ment, supervised by E. Earl Richardson.

The 1959 claims raised the total benefits to $6,872,435 paid to Am-celley employees since the incep-tion of the group insurance plan in 1944. Coverage has been extend-ed nine times since the plan was established, and the life insur-ance now in effect totals $16,723,000. This figure includes approx-imately $2,000,000 of life insur-ance maintained by Celanese on retired Amcelley employees.

Changes in recent years have included extension of hospital confinement and special charges, elimination of the waiting period for new and reinstated employ-ees, and an increase in the surgical schedule from a maximum of $150 to $300.

Since July, 1947, the entire in-surance coverage has been main-tained by Celanese without cost to employees.

Market Stages Comeback To Recoup Early Losses

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market staged a spectacular 11th hour recovery Friday that enabled the list to recoup nearly 75 per cent of the day's losses.

The industrial stock average had crumpled to a new low since April 1, 1959, before buyers rushed in to snap up the bargains. The rally came shortly after the lows were reached at 2 p.m. The scramble, sudden and swift, forced the tape behind the market by seven minutes.

It was the latest tickers have run at any time since Jan. 29, 1959, when the tape ran 11 minutes behind transactions. The industrials at their worst were off 13.19 from their high for the day, yet finished 9.43 points above the day's low on the late support.

The decline early in the session was an extension of the one that hit Thursday. Immediately after that setback, the followers of the Dow theory were quick to assert that the plunge in the railroad average had heralded the start of a new bear market.

However, there were many brokers who saw the market as still attempting to form a strong base.

The rail average closed above its low for the day, dropping 1.15 points to 141.83. This put the average at its lowest level since Sept. 26, 1958.

And the 65 stocks which comprise the Dow Jones average finished at their lowest level since Dec. 30, 1958.

The spurt of buying sent sales churning to 4,600,000 shares, the largest since the day of the break on Feb. 17 when sales amounted to 4,210,000 shares. Thursday's volume amounted to 3,160,000 shares.

Electronics, steels, autos and chemicals led in the late support, with many issues able to wipe out early losses and some even to register slight gains. Youngstown Sheet lost more than a point; while Bethlehem firmed. U. S. Steel was off a small fraction.

Du Pont, a blue chip, off more than 2 at its low, finished the day at 227.4 up 2.4. General Electric picked up a point, as did International Paper, in the last hour. Both had been off earlier.

Electronics snapped back smartly from their lows, too. General time closed off 3 and Texas Instrument, down more than 3 at one time, closed with a small fractional loss.

American motors led the market in turnover with 128,900 shares, and closed at 24 up 1/2.

Stocks on the American Exchange favored a lower price trend Friday but managed to close somewhat above the day's lows. Trading was moderately active.

Drifting Snow Blocks Roads In Mountains

Blustery Winds Drop Visibility To Near Zero In Garrett County

Drifting snow in the mountains of Western Maryland last night was the big problem faced by state and county roads employees striving to keep highway traffic moving.

More snow flurries, windy and cold weather are forecast for the mountains again today where the high temperature should reach the 20s. It is expected to be a few degrees warmer in the rest of the west portion.

Early this morning the mercury was to dip to from zero to five degrees in the mountains and from five to 15 degrees in other parts of Western Maryland. Maryland Route 495 from Bittinger to Grantsville was closed to traffic last night and some roads were one-way.

U.S. Route 40 was open to two-way traffic, according to R. E. L. Putman, district maintenance supervisor of the State Roads Commission. He made a check of the state highways in Garrett County last night and drove along Keyser's Ridge and over U.S. Route 219.

Motorists equipped with snow tires should have no trouble getting through, although chains are recommended.

Visibility Poor

Wind was blustery and visibility was poor to zero in that county last night. Up to 13 inches of new snow has fallen in Garrett County since the storm began Wednesday night. Snow was falling off and on there last night.

Mr. Putman said state roads in Allegany County were in "good shape" last night, although icy in spots. Cinders crews were busy and their main concern was to keep traffic moving.

Ralph E. Weber, official weather observer in Garrett County said he looked for zero weather early this morning. By 8:45 p.m. yesterday the mercury had dipped to a frigid nine degrees above zero.

The low reading in Garrett County yesterday was seven above, and Mr. Weber said the temperature hadn't been over 20 degrees all day yesterday.

The big problem in the county, said Paul W. DeWitt, county roads supervisor of Garrett, is the drifting of fresh snow. All county roads are "pretty bad," with about 75 per cent closed to traffic.

Wind Keeps Roads Closed

As long as the wind blows, little can be accomplished toward keeping the roads open. He said he hopes for a break in the weather this morning. If the wind should stop, then progress in clearing the roads could be made.

He said 32 plows, eight graders, four bulldozers, two snow blowers, and four additional bulldozers obtained from the Department of Forests and Parks were being used.

Mr. DeWitt explained that the previous snows have been pushed into high piles along secondary roads and in many places only a snow blower could be effective to throw it up over the man-made banks.

He said there are no apparent distress cases as yet, although some farmers may be getting low on coal and groceries. Some farmers, he said, are unable to get their milk to market.

Employees of the roads department have been working in staggered shifts in order that they may get their rest and meals. From 15 to 18 trucks, about eight graders and two snow blowers are being manned by the employees, some of whom are working overtime.

Wind At 30 M.P.H.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer here, said gusts of wind up to 30 miles an hour were blowing in Cumberland last night. The mercury stood at 16 degrees last night, according to (Cont. on Page 2, Col. 8)

Schools Open; Many Pupils Stayed Home

Allegany County was the only one of Maryland's 23 which opened its public schools yesterday, and a spot check by school officials showed that many of the youngsters still stayed home.

Mt. Savage High School reported about 10 per cent absent yesterday morning. Fort Hill's absenteeism stood at 16 per cent, with 315 unreported out of 1,890. Allegany missed 260 pupils in an enrollment of 1,821.

Conditions were worse in Frostburg. Hill Street School reported 43 per cent absent. Beall Elementary School had only 270 present and 365 absent, primarily because the operators of five school buses failed to pick up their passengers.

Valley High School reported 158 absent in an enrollment of 728, and 57 of them came from Garrett County. Bruce High School had 200 absent, 100 Garrett countians, among a student body of 730. Flintstone reported attendance of slightly better than 50 per cent. The high school had 102 absent out of 222 and the elementary school missed 97 of 197.

Oldtown's record was better with 57 of 200 absent in the elementary grades and 70 of 210 missing in the high school. Northeast Elementary School at Bowman's Addition had 63 absent among 247 pupils. Westernport Elementary School missed 130 of an enrollment of 564.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster will have to add two days of school to the schedule because the three prior cancellations leave the county two shy of the required 180 for the school year.

Bruce R. Keene Is Transferred

The promotion of Bruce R. Keene, special assignments engineer at Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, to the position of assistant maintenance engineer at the Company's operation at Rock Hill, S.C., has been announced by W. E. Crooks, plant manager.

Mr. Keene came to Cumberland last August after serving as area engineer with American Viscose Corporation. Prior to that, he served as plant manager at the Edge Moor, Del., plant of the Ludlow Manufacturing and Sales Company.

A native of Atlantic City, N.J., where he attended high school, Mr. Keene is a graduate of Lehigh University, where he received a B.S. degree in chemical engineering in 1949. He is a veteran of World War II, having served in the United States Army from 1943 to 1945.

He is married and has four children, two sons and two daughters.

Choral Concert Monday

The Allegany High School choral concert has been re-scheduled to Monday at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium, Miss Dorothy Willison announced last night.

High Winds Play Havoc With Roads

Crews Hope To Open Main Routes Today

High winds yesterday and last night played havoc with efforts of county roads workers to keep the highways open to traffic in Allegany County.

Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, said all available roads employees will man the snow removal equipment this morning in order to get the roads open.

Many of the men who worked through the day yesterday were sent home to much-needed rest before again battling the elements this morning.

Mr. Skelly said 19 truck plows and five graders will see action and that two graders and two plows will be getting repairs, as the weather is beginning to take its toll on the equipment.

"Bad All Over"

Today, he added, loaders will have to be used to move snow from some cuts where space is no longer available to get rid of the snow. This situation is prevalent on Legislative Road from Midland to Lonaconing, Cherry Lane between Hoffman and Wright's Crossing, and Centennial Hill above Frostburg.

Mr. Skelly said the condition of the roads last night was "bad all over" and that the prime effort was to open roads for school buses and mail delivery as well as getting at least one-way traffic to residents along the various county roads.

Among the roads drifted shut are Scott Road on Big Savage Mountain and Centennial Hill. One-way traffic was prevalent on the Midlohan Road last night.

Legislative Road was drifted shut. In the Eckhart-Wright's Crossing sector, Cherry Lane, Frog Hollow Road and the Porter Cemetery Road were among those drifted over.

Abandon Cars

In the Lonaconing area, Steel Road, Seldom Seen Road and Jackson Mountain were closed. A similar situation was prevalent on Miller Road near Barton, and on Fort Hill Road near Rawlings. By this morning Winchester Road near Cresaptown was expected to drift over.

Residents of Horse Rock Addition in Westernport had their problems, as snow blown by high winds had one section closed. One-way traffic prevailed along the main road into the addition. Some motorists had to leave their cars parked and walk a distance to their homes.

Quite a few of the county roads in the Mt. Savage area and east of here in the Oldtown, Little Orleans and Town Hill section were drifted over.

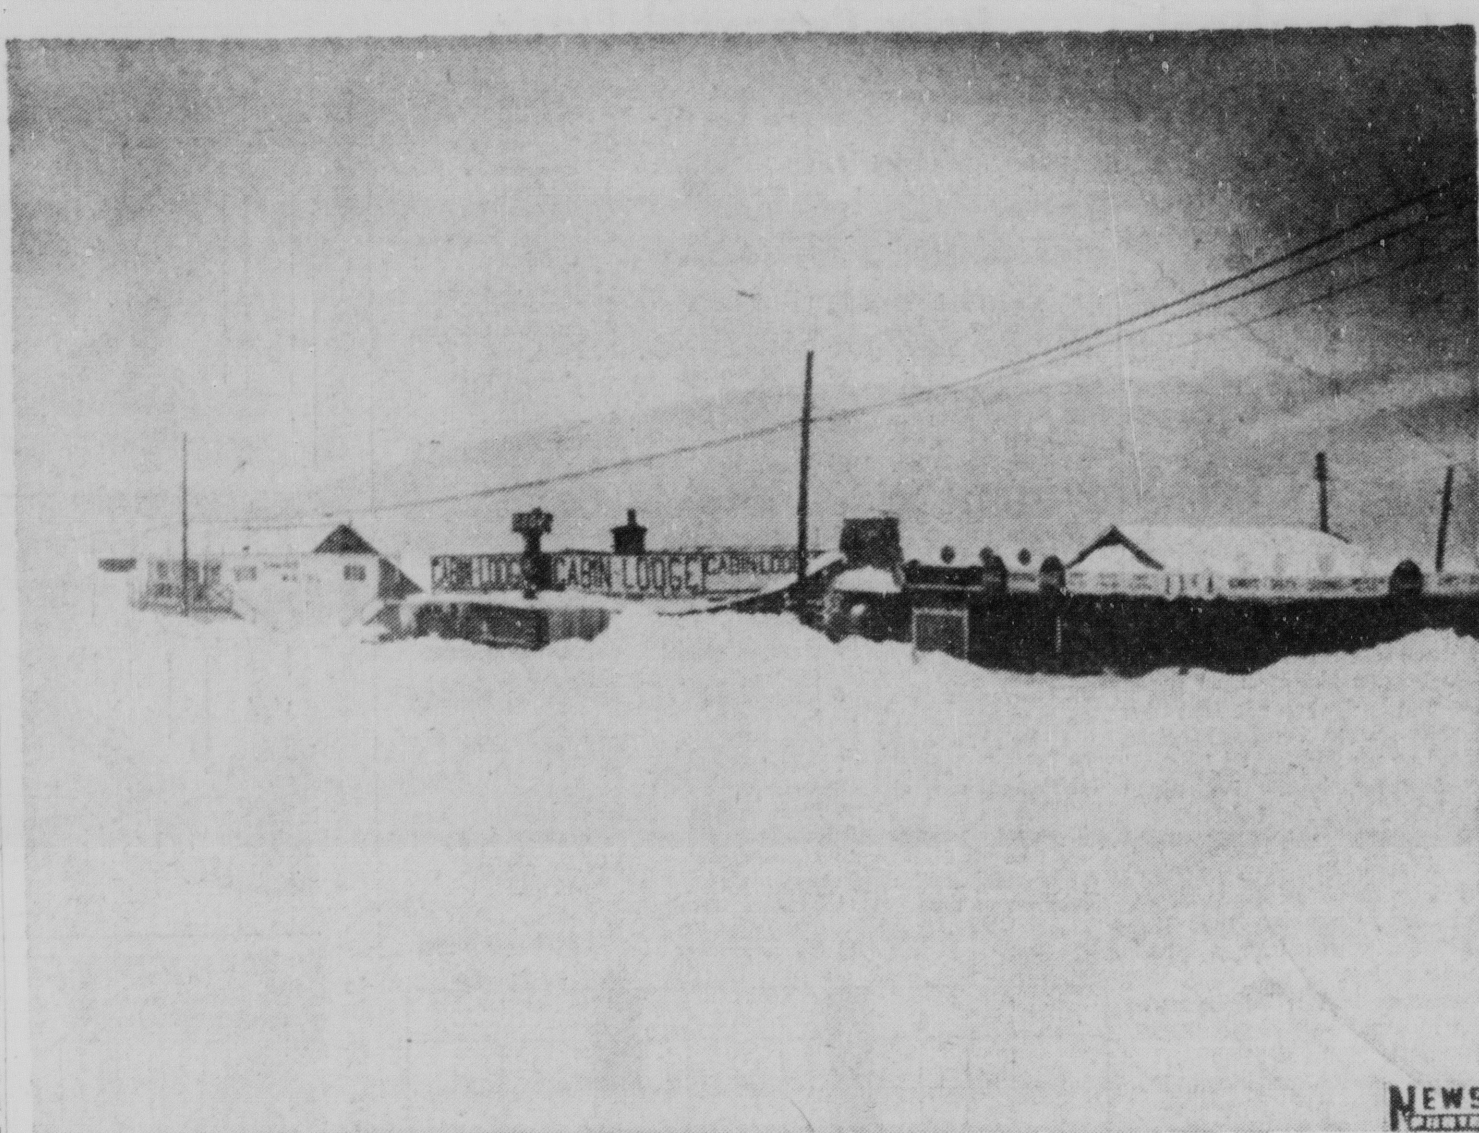

Parked cars left stranded along county roads posed a problem for roads employees by cutting down on the efficiency of their work in clearing the highways, said Mr. Skelly.

He said motorists without chains get caught in drifts, get stuck and leave the scene. Often road crews have to backtrack and return later to that section.

Probationary Officer Resigns From Force

William O. Braithwaite, 106 Virginia Avenue, submitted his resignation as a probationary patrolman yesterday to Police Chief B. F. Gaffney.

The resignation will become effective today. He has been a member of the department since January 28.

Deep Creek Lake Scene

Cabin Lodge at Deep Creek Lake is almost snowed under as drifts and plowed snow pile up roof-high in front of the lodge on U. S. Route 219 north of Oakland. The lake itself, out of view behind the buildings, is frozen over and its surface is covered with big dunes of drifted snow. Plows were on constant patrol to keep Route 219 open yesterday as high winds kept filling up cuts along the route. The county had 13 inches of new snow in a day and a half.

Action Slated Monday On City Merit Pay Plan

The Mayor and Council is scheduled to take action Monday morning on a merit pay and classification plan for city workers.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said the matter will be discussed at a pre-council meeting at 9 a. m.

He added that if things go as scheduled city officials plan "to take it upstairs" for formal action Monday.

Ordinances which include enabling legislation and the classification and pay scales have been prepared this week at City Hall.

Much of the work has been done by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson on the basis of a plan presented Monday by Milton Milon, director of the Municipal Technical Advisory Service, sponsored jointly by the University of Maryland and the Maryland Municipal League.

The proposal would set up a classification system for all city groups and establish minimum and maximum wage scales for each group, making provisions for annual in-grade salary increases until maximum salaries are reached.

$133,114 Sought For Sylvan Retreat

A budget of $133,114.21 has been submitted for Sylvan Retreat by Raymond G. Messmer, superintendent, according to County Commissioner John T. Mason.

The proposed budget seeks $4,240.78 more than the $128,873.43 Mr. Messmer plans to spend in the fiscal year which ends June 30. Two items account for more than the overall increase. The superintendent is seeking a $3,105.60 increase for his employees' salaries and plans to spend $1,500 during the next fiscal year for plumbing repairs.

The new budget includes $97,261.21 for salaries and $35,853 for other expenses. The current budget lists $94,425.81 for salaries and $34,447.62 for other costs. The maintenance budget this year of $2,618.87 includes $1,500 for wiring repairs expected to be made in May.

The program will begin with five selections by the orchestra, composed of nearly 90 musicians. The orchestral numbers will include Intermezzo from L'Arlésienne No. 2 by Bizet-Page; Rosamunde Overture by Schubert; Promenade by Schubert; Polka Dot Parade by Malcesay and Blue Tango by Anderson.

Next will come two selections by the ensemble. They are Two Moods by Grundman and Gypsy Baron March Paraphrase by Strauss - Walters. Dr. Gamble, who founded the ensemble, will direct these selections.

Nine selections by the band will round out the program. They are March Forth by Moore, Allerseelen by Strauss, Montmartre March by Wood, Panis Angelicus arranged by Wilson, Jungle Drums by Lecuona - Morrissey; American Folk Rhapsody by Grundman, Battle Hymn of the Republic by Wilhousky - Neilson, Brigadoon by Loewe-Gordon and Men of Ohio by Fillmore.

School Budget Boost Offset By State Hike

$235,000 Available For Debt Service

A 1960-61 Allegany County public school budget calling for a $191,789 increase in operational expenses, more than offset by a $235,927 decrease for debt service, was submitted to the Board of County Commissioners yesterday morning by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

Mr. Webster was accompanied to the Court House by the three Cumberland members of the County Board of Education, J. Goodloe Jackson, Mrs. Richard Winer and William L. Wilson. Inclement weather kept Mrs. Albert C. Cook of Frostburg and Kenneth R. Malcolm of Westernport away.

At first glance it appeared that the $2,110,313 school operational budget for next school year would require the county to levy additional taxes to make up the $191,789 increase over the $1,918,524 received during the fiscal year which ends June 30.

However, the county will receive an additional $235,000 state incentive payment which can be applied toward the debt service payments. Last year, $605,245.86 in county money was required for school debt service. Included was $161,000 for retirement of school bonds, $51,378.75 for interest on school bonds, $315,858.44 for retirement of the school construction loan and $77,008.67 interest on the school construction loan. These items took 28.71 cents of the $2.22 tax rate.

Less For Debt Service

To start with the county will get a $927 break because the total required for school debt service in the 1960-61 fiscal year is only $604,318.86. Then, the $235,000 incentive payment would reduce to $369,318.86 the amount of county money needed for debt service.

The school superintendent explained that this state incentive money has been spent for school construction over the past 10 years. However, this year the Allegany High School gymnasium and the East Side School addition are ending the current construction program. As a result this money can be applied toward debt service. That $235,000 amounts to a saving of about 13.8 cents on the tax rate, on the basis of a $170,000,000 assessable basis.

A total school budget of $5,193,012 for current expense was submitted to the county commissioners. However, of that amount $3,082,699, or 59.5 per cent, comes from state and other sources.

The largest increase in the 1960-61 school budget is for instructional service. As submitted to the county commissioners, it calls for $4,022,120, up $309,260 from the current fiscal year. This increase includes the $300 a year boost for teachers with 10 years' experience, approved at the just-ended session of the General Assembly in Annapolis. That will bring about $128,400 in additional state money to the county.

Mr. Webster's budget also calls for a $200 minimum across-the-board increase for all 636 teachers to be paid by the county. It has been estimated that this will cost about $148,200. Those teachers with more than a bachelor's degree would be entitled to additional payments. The 138 with a master's degree would get a $300 boost, the 20 with master's and 30 hours toward doctorates would receive $500 more, two with masters' and 60 hours toward doctorates would get $700 more and the four holding doctorates would be in line for $900 increases.

Junior College

The instructional budget also includes a new $30,000 item for salaries for teachers in the proposed junior college for the Cumberland area. The school board hopes for its establishment in the 1960-61 school year.

Three other portions of the 1960-61 budget call for more money than this year. The budget for operation of the school plant would be up $20,278, from $381,000 to $401,278. Of that $13,678 (Cont. on Page 2, Col. 6)

Filter Plant Interior Is Being Painted

The interior of the Lake Gordon filtration plant is being painted this winter, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

The work is being done by filter plant crews under the direction of Franklin J. Blaney, plant superintendent and assistant city engineer.

Mr. Blaney said the floors and part of the walls are being painted deep red while the rest of the walls and ceilings are being painted white.

All metal work is being painted silver with aluminum paint.

Crews are repointing bricks in the older part of the building before applying paint.

Metal work on the contact basins and other outside equipment will be painted bright red.

The paint-up program is being done when weather conditions make outside work impractical. At the same time, the filter plant crews are preparing quarters for two new chlorinators which were delivered to the plant recently.

South End Group To Hear Talk

Rev. Robert F. Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, will be the guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association Monday at 6:30 p. m. at the Community Hall of Grace Methodist Church.

Rev. Hopkins will speak on "The Moral Obligations of Citizenship."

Farmer Contest Finals Postponed

The state finals of the "Outstanding Young Farmer of Maryland," scheduled last night during a banquet at the Government Research Center at Beltsville, has been postponed until March 18.

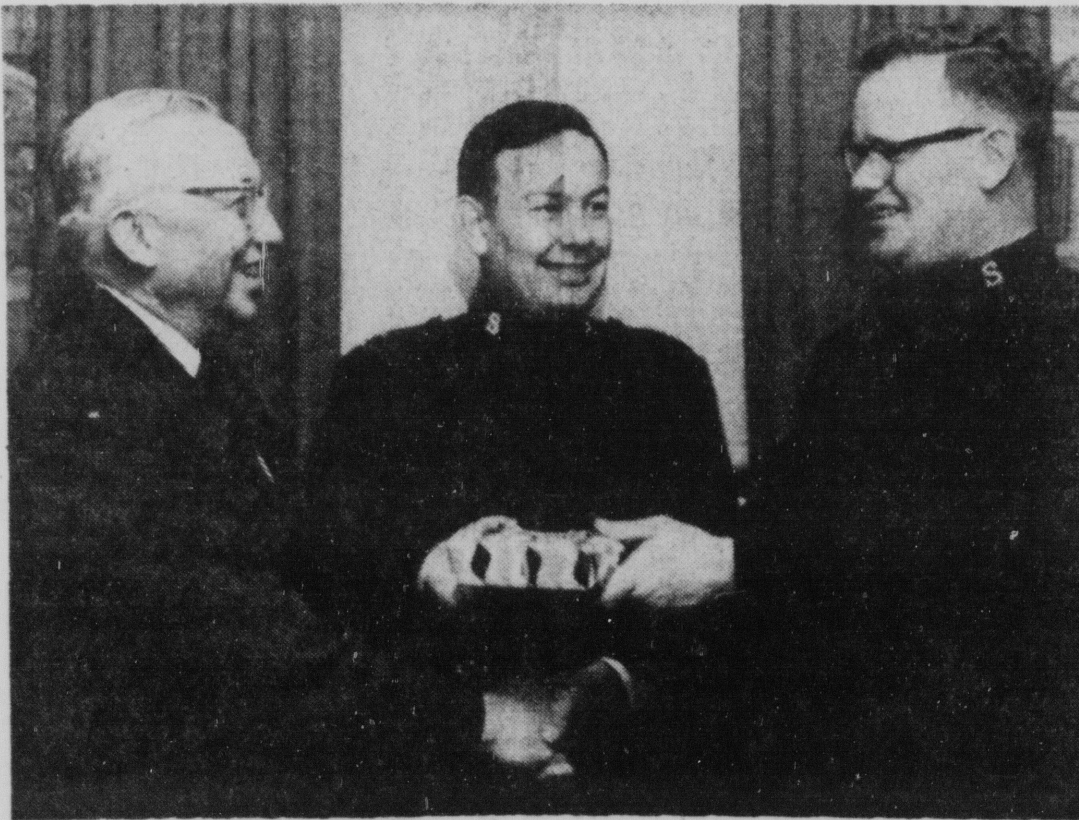

Allegany County's is 33-year-old Earl H. Lepley, of Mt. Savage, who operates a 32-acre dairy farm in that section of the county. He was selected in a county-wide contest sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Use Back Door, Please

Nearly everybody at the Hinebaugh Apartments opposite the Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland is doing just that until the big snow is over. Drifts up to five and six feet deep have effectively blocked the front doors of the building, but the back doors, on the leeward side, are unobstructed. Telephone linemen used snowshoes to enter the building.

Salvation Army Officer Honored

Lt. Richard McConnel, who is being transferred effective next Tuesday to Falls Church, Va., was honored by the Salvation Army Advisory Board at a luncheon yesterday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. J. Wallace Close, left, chairman of the Advisory Board, is shown presenting a gift to Lt. McConnel while Captain Fred Overton, commanding officer at The Citadel, looks on. Lt. McConnel has been in South Cumberland two-and-one-half years. The gift was a desk pen and pencil set.

Drifting Snow Blocks Roads In Mountains

Blustery Winds Drop Visibility To Near Zero In Garrett County

Drifting snow in the mountains of Western Maryland last night was the big problem faced by state and county roads employees striving to keep highway traffic moving.

More snow flurries, windy and cold weather are forecast for the mountains again today where the high temperature should reach the 20s. It is expected to be a few degrees warmer in the rest of the west portion.

Schools Open; Many Pupils Stayed Home

Allegany County was the only one of Maryland's 23 which opened its public schools yesterday, and a spot check by school officials showed that many of the youngsters still stayed home.

Mt. Savage High School reported about 10 per cent absent yesterday morning. Fort Hill's absenteeism stood at 16 per cent, with 315 unreported out of 1,890. Allegany missed 260 pupils in an enrollment of 1,821.

Conditions were worse in Frostburg. Hill Street School reported 43 per cent absent. Beall Elementary School had only 270 present and 365 absent, primarily because the operators of five school buses failed to pick up their passengers.

Valley High School reported 158 absent in an enrollment of 728, and 57 of them came from Garrett County. Bruce High School had 200 absent, 100 Garrett countians, among a student body of 730. Flintstone reported attendance of slightly better than 50 per cent. The high school had 102 absent out of 222 and the elementary school missed 97 of 197.

Oldtown's record was better with 57 of 200 absent in the elementary grades and 70 of 210 missing in the high school. Northeast Elementary School at Bowman's Addition had 63 absent among 247 pupils. Westernport Elementary School missed 130 of an enrollment of 564.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster will have to add two days of school to the schedule because the three prior cancellations leave the county two shy of the required 180 for the school year.

Bruce R. Keene Is Transferred

The promotion of Bruce R. Keene, special assignments engineer at Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, to the position of assistant maintenance engineer at the Company's operation at Rock Hill, S.C., has been announced by W. E. Crooks, plant manager.

Mr. Keene came to Cumberland last August after serving as area engineer with American Viscose Corporation. Prior to that, he served as plant manager at the Edge Moor, Del., plant of the Ludlow Manufacturing and Sales Company.

A native of Atlantic City, N.J., where he attended high school, Mr. Keene is a graduate of Lehigh University, where he received a B.S. degree in chemical engineering in 1949. He is a veteran of World War II, having served in the United States Army from 1943 to 1945.

He is married and has four children, two sons and two daughters.

Choral Concert Monday

The Allegany High School choral concert has been re-scheduled to Monday at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium. Miss Dorothy Willison announced last night.

High Winds Play Havoc With Roads
